

FIERCE RACE WAR AT LIBERTY SQUARE

Mohammedan and Christian in
Clash—Knives and Clubs Used
—Man Held in $2000

The most serious trouble which has taken place in this city for many years threatened to break out last night when the Christian and Mohammedan factions of the foreign element located here clashed. One man was severely if not fatally stabbed and several others suffering today from the result of the free use of knives and clubs by the participants. A riot was only prevented by the speed with which Superintendent Welch rushed all the police who were not out on their beats to the scene of the trouble. The sidewalks were cleared and everyone was sent post haste away from the vicinity. Crowds continued to congregate, however, until a late hour last night although the stabbings were committed before seven o'clock. It took the united efforts of the entire force of patrolmen and all of the local plain clothes men to quell the disturbance and convert the neighborhood around Liberty square into a safe and sane district.

The officers made quite a haul after they arrived on the scene and the arrested disturbers made their appearance in police court this morning. The assailants of Michael Abdullah, who lies in the hospital now in a very critical condition from the knife wounds which he received, all pleaded not guilty to the charge of assault with a knife with intent to kill. Michael Abdullah, a Mohammedan, and Ali Mohammed are the three men charged with the stabbings. Gema is the bridegroom, who, it is claimed, started all the trouble by marrying a Christian girl and then paraded with his Mohammedan friends in front of the Christian Syrians and naturally did not take kindly to the idea of a Christian girl marrying a Mohammedan. Gema and his Christian bride got into a rumput in Lawrence yesterday morning when four Christian Syrian ladies jumped upon him and his wife, pulling their hair and assaulting Gema in several places. All of the participants were arrested in Lawrence but that, it seems, simply served to stir the martial ardor of the bride and groom to such an extent that when they arrived in Lowell some sort of a demonstration was an absolute necessity.

No evidence was produced this morning in any of the cases except those of Michael Hadeb and Charles Slayma, charged with using their fists upon each other. They pleaded not guilty but after Judge Enright had heard the testimony of Sergeant Ryan and Officer McNally he ordered them sent to jail for three months. This is one of the heaviest penalties ever inflicted for a similar charge in the local court, but the circumstances undoubtedly made it necessary.

The other cases were all held over until July 3rd. The three men charged with intent to kill were held in $2000 bail. Ali Kall, charged with assault and battery in two counts upon Michael Corey, was held in $500 and Ali Hassan, charged with assault with a knife upon Sadia Azeh, was held in the same sum. The woman is still confined to her bed from the effects of knife wounds.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR HOLD FIELD DAY

In Observance of St. John's Day
—Commanderies From Maine
at Rockingham Park

Today, St. John's day, is being observed in a fitting manner by the members of Pilgrim Commandery, Knights Templar, and a number of out-of-town Knights, who cordially accepted the invitation of the Lowell body to take part in the celebration, which consisted of a street parade, dinner, and an outing at Rockingham park, Salem, N. H., where a varied entertainment was carried out, and sports and athletics of all descriptions held.

The affair was a grand success from beginning to the end and the Lowell Knights are to be complimented on the way the general program was carried out. The parade was one of the prettiest of its kind ever held in this city, and it is said that seldom has such fine music been heard in the streets of the Spindle City as that produced by the famous bands which were in attendance.

Two years ago while Eminent Sir Knight Horace S. Bacon was commander of Pilgrim Commandery of this city, the members of this popular organization on St. John's day journeyed to Biddeford, Me., where they were royally entertained by Bradford Commandery. Last year, on the same day they made the trip to Lewiston, Me., where they were the guests of Dunlap Commandery. This year Pilgrim Commandery made arrangements to entertain their former hosts and invitations were sent to both commanderies, with the result that the same were cheerfully accepted.

Yesterday the members of Dunlap Commandery went to the Wentworth hotel, New Castle, N. H., where they spent the night. This morning both commanderies arrived at the Northern station at 10:45 o'clock by special train, where they were received by full ranks of Pilgrim Commandery.

The latter met at Masonic Temple, Merrimack street, at nine o'clock and made arrangements to meet their brethren upon the arrival of the special train. Headed by the famous Salem Cadet band, the Sir Knights marched to the station by way of Merrimack, Central and Middlesex street.

At eleven o'clock the line of march was formed in the following order: Platoon of police, Capt. Atkinson, Patrolmen F. Donovan, D. Petrie, W. Wilson, S. Bigelow, B. Ely and A. McCoughrey; Band leader, Sir Knight Alexander Duncan; Salem Cadet band, Pilgrim Commandery; Eminent Sir Knight Arthur D. Prince, commander; Paine's band, Bradford Commandery; Eminent Sir Knight Harry S. Gaylor, commander; Biddeford, Me., Brigade band, Dunlap Commandery; Eminent Sir Knight Frederick G. Payne, commander.

The route of the parade was Middlesex street, Central street, Merrimack street, Moody street, Northern street, Merrimack street and into Masonic Temple in Merrimack street. The entire route of the parade was prettily decorated, the tricolor flag being much in evidence, as well as the white and

ANOTHER BATCH OF SMALLPOX

Seven New Cases Reported This Morning—Four More in French-American Orphanage

Seven new cases of smallpox, four at the French-American orphanage in Pawtucket street, were reported at the office of the board of health this morning. This makes 23 cases in all. Four cases were reported at the orphanage yesterday and besides the four reported direct from there this morning there was another case supposed to have originated there. It is the case of Baby McDonald, at least that is the way the name appeared on the books at public health headquarters. Baby McDonald was removed a few days ago from the orphanage to 23 Decatur street and it was in Decatur street that her condition was discovered and she was returned, immediately, to the orphanage.

The board of health did not collect very much data in connection with the cases reported this morning. Besides the orphanage cases, there was one at 63 Carolyn street, Edward Blanchard, whose wife was one of the first smallpox victims to be removed to the hospital at the beginning of the present epidemic.

The seventh case reported today, and it was discovered last night, was that of Mrs. Gauthier of 187 Perkins street. The board did not have any story in connection with her case. The names and ages of the four children at the orphanage whose cases were reported today, are: Annie Canchon, 8; Rosanna Pihovan, 7; Cecile Guinette, 7; Annette Therin, 5. All of the children will be isolated in a building on the grounds of the orphanage but apart from the main buildings.

The regular tri-monthly meeting of the Middlesex County G. A. R. association was held this morning in Memorial hall with a very large attendance of members from all over the county. President Albert A. Carter, of the association of Post 4, Melrose, presided. The adjutant is Comrade Pierce of Post 66, Medford.

Among the distinguished guests were ex-Mayor Woods of Somerville, Past Commander Fiske of Ashland, Assistant Adjutant General W. A. Weatherly, and a large delegation of prominent G. A. R. men from Norwalk, Connecticut. One of the principal speakers of the morning was Mrs. Kendall, department president of the Women's Relief Corps, and the other officers above named also delivered addresses appropriate to the occasion.

The speaking was preceded by a brief business meeting at which the usual routine business was transacted. The roll call of officers and members

NO ACTION ON BATH QUESTION

Ald. Cummings' Order Failed to Pass at Meeting—$35,000 Loan For Greenhalge School

At a meeting of the municipal council held this forenoon a loan order of $35,000 for additional rooms at the Greenhalge schools was adopted. The council discussed Alderman Barrett's proposition for shower baths and a swimming pool in the Central fire station. Alderman Cummings, who has charge of public buildings, wouldn't stand for a swimming pool, but presented an order providing for shower baths. The order presented by Mr. Cummings was drawn by the city solicitor and did not include an estimate. Alderman Barrett said he would move the adoption of Alderman Cummings' order if Mr. Cummings would have it include an estimate of $15,000. Mr. Cummings said he had talked with the best authorities in the country and he was satisfied that the baths could not be installed for that amount. He refused to make any estimate. The mayor suggested that Alderman Cummings present to the council, at his convenience, an estimate of the cost of installing shower baths and lavatories at the Central fire station, and Mr. Cummings said he would present the estimates at the next meeting.

Mayor O'Donnell called to order at 11:20 o'clock and the first business before the meeting had to do with the following petitions by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company, which were in order for hearings. Petitions for permission to erect two poles on West Sixth street, between Coburn street and No. 96. For permission to erect one pole on West Sixth street, opposite No. 236. For permission to erect seven poles on Dingwell street between Middlesex

WASHINGTON, June 24.—United States Attorney McNabb's resignation wired Saturday to President Wilson with startling charges that Attorney-General McKendall had ordered delays in certain criminal prosecutions in San Francisco which threatened to defeat justice still lay unacted upon before President Wilson today.

The situation, which already has called forth various explanations, was taken up at the cabinet meeting. When the meeting broke up the only announcement on the McNabb case came from Attorney-General McKendall.

"The president will issue a statement on the subject shortly," was his only comment. It was understood that the attorney-general's report presented at President Wilson's direction was an oral one.

Chairman Clayton today announced the decision of the committee to have a hearing and take up resolutions by Rep. Kahn of California. While it is not the purpose of the Thursday hearing to begin an investigation of the merits of the propositions it is to determine upon action of the Kahn resolutions calling upon the attorney-general to send to congress all papers in the case which are expected to disclose the official reasons for the postponements. Rep. Hinebaugh's resolution to direct the judiciary committee to investigate the entire affair was today referred to the rules committee.

ALDERMAN CHARGED WITH TAKING BRIBE

Wm. Blaisdell, of Beverly, Arrested
on Complaint of Junk Dealer
—Held in $1000

BEVERLY, June 24.—William Blaisdell, an alderman, was arrested at Beverly city hall today on the charge of accepting a bribe. Blaisdell, who knew that application for a warrant was to be made during the forenoon at the Salem district court waited at the hall for Chief Woodberry of the Beverly police to serve it upon him.

He was held in $1000 for a hearing Friday. Judge Sears of the Salem court issued the warrant after hearing the testimony of Robert Arth, a junk dealer of Beverly, who said that Blaisdell agreed on receipt of $25 to get three other aldermen to vote with him in favor of granting a junkdealer's license to Arth. Blaisdell denies the charge.

Held at Memorial Hall This Forenoon—Dinner and Addresses at Unitarian Church

The regular tri-monthly meeting of the Middlesex County G. A. R. association was held this morning in Memorial hall with a very large attendance of members from all over the county. President Albert A. Carter, of the association of Post 4, Melrose, presided. The adjutant is Comrade Pierce of Post 66, Medford.

Among the distinguished guests were ex-Mayor Woods of Somerville, Past Commander Fiske of Ashland, Assistant Adjutant General W. A. Weatherly, and a large delegation of prominent G. A. One of the principal speakers of the morning was Mrs. Kendall, department president of the Women's Relief Corps, and the other officers above named also delivered addresses appropriate to the occasion.

The speaking was preceded by a brief business meeting at which the usual routine business was transacted. The roll call of officers and members took place and it was announced that since the last meeting, four comrades have passed away.

The G. A. R. men were accompanied by their ladies, members of the W. R. C., who presided over the bounteous dinner which was served at the First Unitarian church at half past twelve o'clock. This was an enjoyable feature. In the afternoon all repaired to the auditorium of the church where exercises were held. The pastor, Rev. Charles T. Ethington, delivered a lecture and there was music, with other addresses. The visitors to the city will start homeward late this evening. The organization is quite a large one and the members all evince the keenest interest in G. A. R. affairs.

EXPERTS ARE CALLED IN

To Testify in the Case of Earle vs. Gulliland

DR. MINER, MOUTH SURGEON, ON STAND TODAY

Suit For Damages Against the Lowell Automobile Company up for Trial Today

The case of Lena C. Earle vs. Dr. Frank G. Gulliland was resumed at superior court this morning.

Dr. Gulliland was called to the stand and stated that he treated the plaintiff's teeth in the year 1909, the work done being chiefly "bridge work." He said Miss Earle returned to his office four or five months after she received the treatment and complained of soreness in the mouth.

Dr. Miner, a mouth surgeon, whose office is located in Boston, was called as an expert witness. Dr. Miner stated that he believed if an injury was caused by unskillful treatment, the injury would be noticeable in a much shorter time than four or five months. Dr. Miner remained on the stand for some time and was closely cross-examined.

Late yesterday afternoon, the defense in the case of Lena C. Earle vs. Dr. F. G. Gulliland, a local dentist, opened its case. The first witness was Dr. Gulliland, who in reply to direct questioning said that he is a graduate of the Philadelphia College of Dentistry, class of 1903. In speaking of the work he did for Miss Earle Dr. Gulliland testified that the bridge work was all right. He said further that he had afterward put in a plate of 14 teeth for plaintiff and that at that time there was nothing the matter with the bridge work. She had, he said, made no complaint then. He denied that any instrument had slipped and said that if such a thing had happened, he would have known of it. At 4:15 the session adjourned with the defendant still upon the stand.

Suit Against Lowell Automobile Co. At yesterday morning's session, a suit against the Lowell Automobile company was opened. The plaintiffs are Clarence Tibbitts and his father, Albert J. Tibbitts, and both suits will be tried as one. Plaintiffs seek to recover for alleged injuries to Clarence Tibbitts in being struck by an automobile of the defendant while the younger plaintiff was riding a bicycle on the boulevard. The jury was drawn and went to the scene of the accident to take a view.

SALISBURY, Md., June 24.—Despite the efforts being made by the authorities to keep covered the developments of the investigation being made into the death of Miss Florence Walworth, the young woman who was found dead in the office of the Home Gas Co. Friday night, it is now known that the young woman did not die of poison as at first thought, but from a criminal operation performed. It is thought Friday afternoon in the yard back of the gas company's office.

It is Up to You, Gentlemen. Lowell has one of the finest office buildings in New England. Now whether you are a professional man or a business man, it is your own fault if you continue to do business in an antiquated, dingy, unsanitary office. There are some fine offices still vacant in the New Sun building.

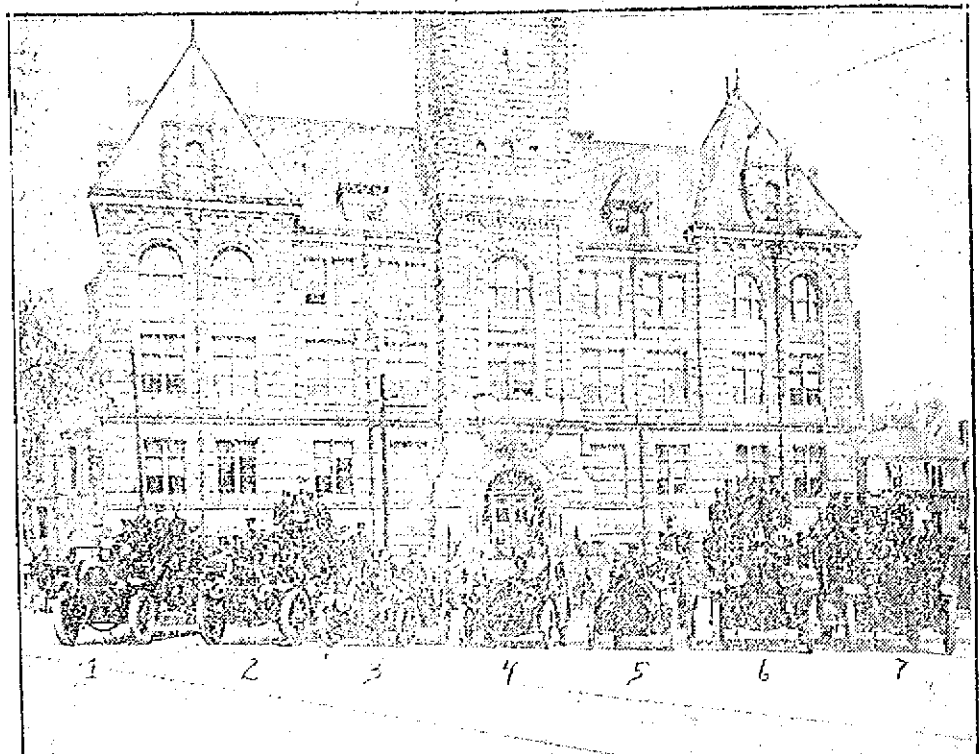

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun, 41 West column.

TO ACCEPT ARBITRATION

Premier Pasitch of Servia
Forms Cabinet

BELGRADE, Servia, June 24.—King Peter has entrusted Premier Pasitch, who recently resigned with the reconstruction of the cabinet. Only the holders of the portfolios of war and justice will be changed in the new combination. This victory of Premier Pasitch is taken in influential circles here to mean that Servia is ready to accept arbitration in the Balkan dispute in spite of the activities of her army and that war will thus be averted.

LOWELL'S FLYING FIRE SQUADRON, SHOWING THE RAPID TRANSITION TO MOTOR APPARATUS

LOWELL'S MOTOR FIRE APPARATUS FRONTING CITY HALL.

No. 1—Protective Co., Capt. W. J. Holbrook, Warren street.
No. 2—Engine Co. No. 3, Capt. J. E. Jones, High street.

No. 4—Chief Saunders and Driver H. B. Saunders, Palmer street.
No. 5—District Chief Sullivan and Driver T. E. Welch, Central street.
No. 6—Engine Co. No. 8, Capt. D. J. Ryan, Race street.
No. 7—Engine Co. No. 2, Capt. H. Bugan, Branch street.

If there is any one place where it would seem that the horse has had his day it is in the fire department. So far as Lowell is concerned, it is but a question of a very few years when the fire department will be having gasoline instead of hay and grain. The automobile fire apparatus, in operation in this city at the present time is giving good satisfaction and when the expense of these machines has been worked down to the minimum it is generally conceded that the expense of the machinery, as a whole, will be much less than the expense of the horses as a whole.

Commissioner Barrett, who has charge of the fire department, would like to add a few more machines to the flying squadron and he may add one more this year, yet it is doubtful if any more machines will be added until next year. The motorization of the fire department was begun in 1899, with the purchase of the present progressive apparatus, but it amounted to very little until last year. Commissioner Barrett says there is no more fire houses constructed here so long as the corporate limit remains as they now are; the life of a piece of motor apparatus is 10 years and Mr. Barrett points out that it is a failure to purchase automobiles on increased money.

Mr. Barrett, of course, has gone on record as being very much in favor of automobile fire apparatus. He argues that the purchase of automobile fire apparatus will very positively cut down further expenditures along the line of building. "For several years past residents of the Highlands and the far Highlands have been at the city government to appropriate enough money," said Mr. Barrett, "to build a house in these sections. City government has not done it, probably because they haven't had the money, but the time was surely coming when if the motor propelled apparatus had not been bought, the houses would be erected.

"No brick fire house can be constructed for less than $25,000, and a better figure would be $30,000. According to the number of units to be attached to a company it would cost $11,000 to $15,000 additional. The equipment, the purchase of horses, the cost of repairing worn out impediments, etc., would still further swell the amount. In 10 years' time one house would cost from $100,000 to $175,000, making a total expenditure in 10 years of $300,000 for the establishment and maintenance of these two fire companies.

"It is well that we have decided to purchase pieces of automobile fire apparatus. If we hadn't the fire wardens would have argued improvements so strongly that eventually the fire houses in the Highlands and the far Highlands would have become necessities."

WRECK VICTIM DYING Others Injured in Crash Are Improving

CANAAN, Conn., June 24.—Physicians attending the nine persons injured in the crash between the combination milk and passenger train on the New Haven road and a switcher on the Central New England at the crossover here yesterday, reported today that all were resting comfortably with the exception of Mrs. Frank Olin of Falls Village. She has a fractured skull and owing to her advanced years it is feared she may not recover. Mrs. M. C. Lowrey of Clinton Corner, N. Y., was not so seriously injured as at first reported.

The New Haven road is conducting an investigation as to the cause of the collision. According to witnesses failure to send out a flagman from the passenger train, which was waiting at the station, caused the accident.

He was temporarily laid off a short time before the crime was committed. Eighty dollars, which the foreman was said to have received from the company a few hours before his disappearance, was traced to Halifax, N. S., where he was arrested.

TRAIN PLUNGED THROUGH BRIDGE Engine and 7 Cars Went Into the Reservoir—The Engineer Lost Control—Crew Jumped

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 24.—An engine and seven cars of the Annapolis Short-Line railroad plunged through the drawbridge of the long railroad trestle which spans the Severn reservoir near here, today. Only the caboose remained on the track. All of the crew, consisting of five men, jumped and none was injured. The engineer lost control of his train on the long down grade and the draw was partially open, having just been swung to allow a vessel to pass.

LOWELL POLICE DEFEATED Metropolitan Park Cops Won, 13 to 8

The local police baseball team received the first setback which they have experienced this season at the hands of the Metropolitan Park police at Spaulding park this morning, being defeated by the score of 13 to 8. Jimmy Murch of New England league fame was in the visitors' lineup and pitched the latter part of the game. Lowell could do nothing with his fast straight ball up to the last, when they added three runs to those already gleaned from Murch's predecessor.

Frank Maloney was on the mound for Lowell and, contrary to the appearance of the score sheet, twirled good ball throughout the game. His support was the worst that has been presented by the Lowell cops this year, although Lewelly, Kenney and Kelley held their positions well. Lowell outbatted their opponents and but for the presence of so many errors would have won the game. Bagged fielding with men on bases let in six of the visitors' runs.

NEW DUTY ON SUGAR Caucus Agreed to Support Amendment

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Anti-free sugar democrats gathered in senate caucus today and agreed to support an amendment by Senator Shafroth to eliminate the provision for free sugar in 1916 and substitute a duty of approximately one-half cent a pound after that time on refined sugar.

The Shafroth amendment accepts the duties proposed in the Underwood bill upon sugar for the next three years including a rate on refined sugar until 1916 of approximately one cent a pound. Louisiana senators and those from best sugar states are making no

Summer Board in Colorado Very Moderate Charges

"I'd like to go to Colorado," said a man the other day, "but it costs too much to live there that I'm afraid I—"

"Forget it," said his friend, who had spent a month last summer in the Wonderful State. "I had the same idea myself last year until I got that folder the Burlington gets up telling the hotel rates. And I was mightily surprised to find that, besides the hotels, there are hundreds of good, clean, wholesome ranch houses in Colorado, where the rates are as low as $3.00 a week, and the fare is mighty good."

That folder is published by the Burlington railroad to show folks how they can enjoy a vacation in Colorado at a very reasonable expense. I'd like to mail you a copy of it—free. It tells all about the country, gives a complete list of hotels and boarding houses, addresses, rates, conveniences, elevation and nearby attractions. Let me send these, and if you wish I can tell you all about the trains and cost of railway tickets to the most wonderfully charming country in America.

DIED FROM OWN MIXTURE Beverage Kills One—Others Ill

LEXINGTON, June 24.—A beverage believed to have contained wood alcohol caused the death early today of Michael McDonald and the serious illness of James Keefe and Richard McDonald. The men were employed as gardeners on an estate here. Yesterday Michael McDonald prepared a concoction, the ingredients of which were known only to himself and he and his companions partook of it. All three died shortly after midnight. Keefe said that he tasted wintergreen in the mixture. The police theory is that McDonald intended to mix wintergreen and alcohol but used wood alcohol by mistake. The nature of the beverage will not be known until after an analysis of the contents of the dead man's stomach.

McDonald leaves a wife and four children. He was 44 years of age.

IN THE BATH USE CARBONOL

CARBONOL is the ideal disinfectant for perspiration. A tablespoonful or two in the bath will thoroughly clean the pores of the skin and leave it in a healthy condition.

Carbonol heals chafed and chapped surfaces and eruptions of the skin. In warm weather, or after exercise that brings on a profuse perspiration, Carbonol in the bath is essential to clear the pores and disinfect. Use Carbonol to relieve tired, aching feet, and prevent swelling after an unusual travel.

Carbonol makes an excellent shampoo. It will dissolve dandruff, keep the hair clean and glossy, and it is much easier to use than a soap.

After shaving, put a dash of Carbonol in the water when you wash off the soap. The Carbonol will dissolve the soap and clean out the pores, healing cuts, stop the flow of blood and relieve all irritation.

Upon reaching the temple the Knights did away with their uniforms and a brief reception was held in the large meeting hall, where the visitors were welcomed by Eminent Sir Knight Arthur D. Prince, who complimented them for coming in such large numbers, and assured them of Pilgrim Commandery's hospitality, calling upon every Sir Knight to make himself right at home.

Interesting remarks were made by Eminent Sir Knight Harry S. Sawyer, commander of Bradford Commandery, and Eminent Sir Knight Frederick G. Payne, commander of Dunlap Commandery, and others, who spoke in eloquent terms, congratulating the

H., at 1:30 o'clock, where the outing was held at Rockingham park.

There a varied program of sports was carried out; rich prizes being awarded the winners of the various events, and a most enjoyable afternoon

LYNN KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

Guests at the Vesper Country Club in Observing St. John's Day—Fine Program of Sports

The Vesper-Country club on Tyngs Island is today the scene of a very pretty gathering, for a large number of members of Olcott Commandery, Knights Templars of Lynn, have gathered there to observe St. John's day. The event will be a memorable one for those who are taking part, for a fine program has been arranged for the occasion.

The members of Olcott commandery, Eminent Sir Knight J. P. Croscup, commander, made the trip from Lynn in automobiles, there being about 35 machines of all descriptions. They came through Lowell between 10 and 11 o'clock and paid a short visit to the brethren of this city, after which they repaired to the club.

In the forenoon a lively baseball game was enjoyed between the "Hassens" and the "Usetobes." And the six innings played were real hot. This was followed by a short list of sports after which dinner was served. At the conclusion of the repast speeches were in order and several good speakers were heard. The afternoon was devoted to sports, tennis and golf and 5 o'clock luncheon was served.

The homeward trip was started at 6 o'clock, and all were pleased with the way the day was spent. There were 150 knights in the party, and all highly praised the well appointed Vesper-Country club.

Neither wines nor cordials to excess, but instead had a religious abhorrence of all liquids into the substance of which alcohol had entered.

These facts were established in a court of law a few weeks ago to the satisfaction of all.

But this decision is not so interesting as a local one of long standing, which is to the effect that Carr's is one of the best-conducted places of amusement in these parts. This fact has been established, for years, in the minds of the people of Lowell.

"I really enjoy my billiards here, fully as much as in my home," said a local practitioner of law, recently. "The quietude of this place is identical with that which is found when one is strolling through the beautiful lanes of a far removed wooded land or open country. You'll enjoy every game you play here."

THEATRE IN OLD B. & M. STATION

Architect Graves Drawing Plans—
Messrs. Simpson, the Lessees,
Talk of Changes

If present plans are not abandoned, Lowell will soon have another theatrical building, for the lessees of the old Boston & Maine depot in Central street are planning to transform the building into a modern playhouse, and already Architect Harry Graves is working on the plans of the proposed changes.

After several months of hard work with officials of the Boston & Maine railroad company, Messrs. J. A. and E. A. Simpson, the well known contractors, have leased the old Boston & Maine depot in Central street for a term of 15 years, and before subleasing they are awaiting the return of the lease which is yet to be signed by President Mellen of the railroad company.

Messrs. Simpson signed the lease Saturday and today the document was sent to President Mellen, and it is expected the paper will be returned to Lowell Wednesday. One of the lessees stated this morning that they had various plans as to the future use of the building, one particularly being for a theatre, one concern being very desirous of leasing a portion of the building for that purpose.

Although Architect Graves is drawing plans to transform the edifice into a theatre, nothing definite has yet been decided upon beyond a few general ideas.

The old Boston & Maine depot has been the topic of considerable talk for the past few weeks, or since the new telephone company vacated the place. It was at first announced that an out-of-town company had secured an option on the edifice for an automobile factory, but later it leaked out that a local firm had leased it. At that time the name of the lessee or lessees was kept secret. Now, however, the secrecy stage has passed and the new lessees are ready to make the most of the undertaking. In addition to the theatre which will front on Central street, it is stated that there will be space enough for one or two other business concerns.

12 ASSASSINS EXECUTED

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 24.—Twelve of the men sentenced to death in connection with the assassination of Mahmud Shekhet Pasha, the late grand vizier, were executed this morning in Bayazid Square. The place was surrounded by a double cordon of armed military police troops and city police but there was no disturbance. The condemned men walked to the scaffold with firm steps. Several of them delivered addresses from the scaffold.

COURT FREES PELKY MOTHER OF 8 IN JAIL

Found Not Guilty of Man-slaughter Sentenced by Judge for Contempt of Court

CALGARY, Alberta, June 24.—Arthur Pelky, the puglist, last night was acquitted of a manslaughter charge brought after the death of Luther McCarty, who died in the first round of a bout here on May 24.

It was charged by the government that McCarty died from a blow administered by Pelky. The jury was out only 45 minutes before returning the verdict, although Chief Justice Harvey's charge was said to be unfavorable to the defendant.

In his charge to the jury, Judge Harvey admitted that there was some doubt as to whether the contest was illegal, but he said there was no doubt that death had been caused by a blow and that the jury should consider only whether the defendant was guilty of causing the death of his opponent in an effort to win the prize placed upon the contest.

Pelky was jubilant when he learned of the verdict and declared it was exactly what he expected. The verdict was to the effect that the contest was a prize-fight, but that Pelky was not guilty of manslaughter, inasmuch as the blow he struck was not intended to cause fatal results.

His demonstration followed the announcement of the verdict and as Pelky stepped from the prisoners' box a general rush was made by friends of the accused to shake his hand and to extend congratulations.

JUNK DEALERS
Did Enormous Business During 1912, According to Geological Survey in Statement Issued Today

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Junk dealers during 1912 did an enormous business, the geological survey asserts in a statement issued today. The value of "secondary materials," exclusive of gold, silver, platinum, iron, and aluminum, recovered last year was $77,395,533 as compared with $81,565,350 in 1911, an increase of more than $25,000,000.

The survey's report does not set forth the quantity of old iron and steel re-melted, neither does it include the precious metals. The quantity of aluminum returned to the secondary smelters is increasing rapidly, says the survey, owing to the rise of the automobile and it adds that the reports next year will include "secondary aluminum." The total amount of secondary copper recovered was over 137,000 tons.

M'REYNOLDS' ACTION CONDEMNED

The Federal Grand Jury Prepares Resolutions—Atty. McNabb Intimates Bribery

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—Further correspondence that passed between the offices of the attorney general in Washington and the United States attorney for the northern district of California was made public last night at District Attorney John McNabb's reply to the statement of Assistant Attorney General William Harr in explanation of the postponement of the trials of the Western Fuel Co. accused of conspiracy to defraud the government.

The correspondence related to a third case involving an order from the attorney general's office that six women whose deportation had been decreed by federal judges on the ground that they had entered the United States to follow an immoral calling be admitted to bail. The deportation orders had been signed by Judges Van Fleet and Detroit.

In a letter written on Sept. 27, 1912, Dist. Atty. McNabb informed the assistant attorney general that the court had denied the women freedom on bail and protested against their being admitted to bail. On Oct. 12 Assistant Attorney General Harr wrote that in his judgment the women should have been released on bail.

District Attorney McNabb's reply to the letter made public last night described the six women as of the lowest type and conveyed the information that a roundabout attempt had been made to procure their freedom by bribery of his office.

"Nevertheless," Mr. McNabb said, "the women were not deported and they are now engaged in their illicit trade in this city."

The federal grand jury at a meeting yesterday prepared resolutions condemning the action of Attorney General McReynolds in the Western Fuel Co. and Diggs-Caminetti cases.

ANONYMOUS WRITER
Caused Mr. Cummings to Open Up on Cemeteries

Somebody doesn't like Tom Duckworth, but who that particular somebody is we don't know. The somebody addressed a letter to Commissioner Cummings and somebody didn't sign his name, thus rendering his communication anonymous—or words to that effect. Reading from the unsigned letter one would not get a very good impression of Mr. Duckworth as a man of affairs. The somebody says that "Tom" couldn't tell time from fertilizer and that he doesn't know the first thing about grave caring or cemetery work. Commissioner Cummings doesn't think much of a man who is afraid to attach his name to what he writes. He says the writer of the letter may be a near-man, but not a real man.

"For the benefit of the anonymous complainant against the superintendent of cemeteries," said Commissioner Cummings today, "I would say the superintendent was elected by the municipal council last year. I have received letters complimenting Mr. Duckworth for his service. The anonymous letter writer is the first person to complain. On any reasonable complaint the municipal council will give a hearing to any citizen or lot owner in the cemeteries owned by the city of Lowell."

Speaking generally on public cemeteries, Mr. Cummings said: "Acting under the advice of the city solicitor I have instructed the superintendent to refuse to do work in the cemeteries for persons owing money for work done on graves in the past. The exception to that, and one case was reported to me within a week, is where families are in straitened circumstances. Men and women who can afford to pay for work done on their lots in the cemeteries have not done so under any form of management. Under the city solicitor's ruling they will now be compelled to pay. Notices have been repeatedly sent to them but they have ignored the notices."

DESERTION OF CHILDREN

Is Charged Against Diggs and Caminetti

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 24.—Providing that the federal authorities postpone the case of Mavy Diggs and Drew Caminetti for the reason that Immigration Commissioner A. Caminetti, father of the defendants, may be at the trial, two charges, one a misdemeanor and the other a felony, still remain for the two men to face in the Sacramento county superior court.

The felony charge against Diggs alleges the desertion of his five year old daughter, that against Caminetti alleges the desertion of Naomi Caminetti and his one year old son. Both charges are pending in Justice Clark's court.

District Attorney Wachorst had intended to suspend these charges should the federal charges be completed but it is probable that these will now be prosecuted.

Wachorst was in San Francisco yesterday conferring with United States District Attorney McNabb in relation to the case.

FUNERALS

TEAGUE—The funeral services over the late Mrs. Mary A. Teague, widow of the late John Teague, and mother of one of Lowell's best known and most respected families, drew a large and representative congregation to St. Columba's church yesterday where at 10 o'clock a high mass of requiem was sung, the funeral cortege leaving the home of the deceased, 180 Mammoth road, at 8:30. Mrs. Teague passed away at her summer residence at Juniper Point, where she was as well known and esteemed as in her home city, many residents of the North Shore along the large gathering of mourners who attended the remains to their final resting place. Possessed of the noblest attributes of Christian womanhood, the deceased won the love of all who had the good fortune to come in personal contact with her; a mother and friend, who lived for others, she was respected and loved by all who knew her. Her funeral services were held at St. Columba's church, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Fr. Degan, pastor of St. Columba's, celebrant; Rev. Thomas Walsh, of St. Mary's, officiating deacon, and Rev. Francis Walsh of Reading, sub-deacon. The choir under the direction of Miss Catherine Whaley, who also presided at the organ, sang "Gregorian Mass." The solemnizing sustained by Frances Tighe and Alice Murphy and Mrs. Nana Gallagher-Leahy. At the offertory, Mrs. Tighe rendered "The Lord's Prayer" and at the conclusion of the service, Commissioner James E. Donnelly sang "De Profundis." There followed a profusion of beautiful floral tributes, including large pillars inscribed "Mother" from the family. Others who sent floral tributes were: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Perreault, Mrs. Edward Calvey, John F. Golden, John C. Kelleher and family, Mr. Charles M. Williams and James J. Kerwin, Esq., Miss Maryann Donohue, Miss Alice Bagshaw, Miss Mary Flynn and Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Foye. The honorary bearers were Patrick O'Hearn, Daniel J. Murphy, James Cassidy and Patrick Gilbride, and the active bearers were George M. Harrigan, James J. Kerwin, William Purcell, John Garrahan, Charles W. Holmes and Charles Donohue. At the grave Rev. Fr. Degan read the committal prayers and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in Cambridge.

The annual lawn party of St. Columba's church will take place on the spacious grounds of the church on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 23 and 24. A meeting of the members of the church to make further arrangements will be held on next Thursday evening.

THE SALE OF FIREWORKS

Dealers Must Secure Licenses

CHIEF SAUNDERS TO PROSECUTE ANY OFFENDERS

Only Fifty Per Cent. Permits Granted This Year—Penalty, $100 or 30 Days' Imprisonment

Chief Saunders of the local fire department, who is also in charge of granting permits to sell fireworks, wishes to issue a warning to all dealers who will sell fireworks of any description without having first secured the rightful permit to conduct this business, the law is that when so will be dealt with according to law.

The chief stated this morning there is considerable firecracker being sold in Lowell, although but very few permits have been granted. Comparing the list of licenses issued up to the present time with that of last year at about the same time, he found there are about 50 per cent. less licenses granted this year than last year. The penalty for selling fireworks without a special license is a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment for not more than thirty days, or both.

Sections four and five of the act prohibit the sale of certain pistols and explosives and to authorize the making of regulations relative to fireworks and firecrackers are as follows:

Section 4—The chief of the district police may designate some official of such city or town who shall, when so designated, grant the permits, not otherwise provided for, that may be required by the regulations, and shall keep a record of the same. A fee of fifty cents may be charged for each of said permits. The said chief may revoke any permit granted under the authority of this act, and a permit may be revoked for cause by any official who granted the same.

Section 5—Whoever violates any provision of this act, or any regulation, ordinance or by-laws made under authority hereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days, or by both with fine and imprisonment.

They will make their home in the latter place.

THEIR—LACOMBE

LEWIS—McCRANN

A very pretty marriage was solemnized yesterday in St. Patrick's church, when Mr. Arthur Lewis, a popular employee of the Boston, Manchester and Concord Express Co., and Miss Katherine McCrann, a well known young woman of this city, were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Keenan. The best man was Mr. Leo O. Mollon, while the bridesmaid was Miss Nora McCrann, sister of the bride. The latter wore a pretty satin charmeuse gown with shadow lace trimmings, as well as a veil and flower wreath, while the bridegroom was attractively attired in a beautiful shadow lace gown over white silk. They both carried shower bouquets of lilies of the valley. During the mass appropriate music was rendered by Mr. Andrew McCarthy and Miss Alice Murphy, while Mr. Michael Johnson presided at the organ.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the bride party repaired to the home of the bride, 505 Merrimack street, where a brief reception and dinner were held. They will be at home 1 month at 505 Merrimack street. No cards. Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding was a sister of the bride, Mrs. Mae Dorian of New York.

POLICE AFTER MOTORISTS

Start Crusade Against "Speed Kings"

The local police set several traps Sunday afternoon, baited with the best piece of roadway, to catch the unwary motorist and although no results have been forthcoming as yet it is expected that several of the "speed boys" will make an early appearance in police court.

Until recently not much attention had been paid to the speed attained by automobiles and motor-cycles; as they travelled the Lowell highways but the increasing number of accidents incurred by reckless driving has been the signal for a lively crusade by Supt. Welch and men on the "drivers" who persist in breaking the law which regulates the maximum speed with which a motor propelled vehicle shall be driven through our streets.

LOCAL SYRIANS

A meeting of local Syrians was held at 75 Suffolk street to assist the motherland in her effort to secure self government from Turkey. The society organized has 50 members and elected Michael Ansara president.

Mayer James E. O'Donnell has received a very urgent request from John J. Rider, president of the league of American Peoples, to attend a convention of the league to be held in Winnipeg, Man., August 7, 8 and 9. It is expected that this convention will be of great importance to the league, many interesting experiments in city government carried out in Canada in recent years and the striking results that have come from these experiments.

Live Bits of Sport

Ed Cawley made a very fitting wind-up of his high school athletic career last Saturday afternoon at Spaulding park. His fielding and batting were the features of the game. Ed will leave for Connie Mack's outfit within a very short time.

Joe Gargan has returned from his year's stay at the University of Notre Dame and will be home until college opens next fall. Joe will make them all sit up and take notice when the gridiron season comes around again.

Did you see where Duggy Smith pitched a very creditable game for Springfield the other day? What do you know about that young southpaw? If Smith makes good with Springfield it will be the joke of the season.

Manager Charley Doolin of the Philadelphia Nationals made a big hit last night at Keith's theatre. Boston, when he rendered a selection which was not on the program. Doolin was in one of the boxes enjoying the performance when one of the singers stepped up to the footlights and requested that the boss of the National league leaders give the audience a song. Doolin was in a vaudeville last winter and the request did not go unheeded. The house was in an uproar for several minutes and the manager-actor was obliged to give three encores before the audience was satisfied.

Regardless of the injury to his hand Jimmie Gardiner will box Frank Klaus on Tuesday, July 1st, at the Atlas A. A. of Boston according to a communication received by the writer from the secretary of the club. This is the first bout in a series of elimination contests which Matchmaker McGinn has arranged between the top notchers in the middleweight division. If Jimmie can hold his own with Klaus he will again be a great drawing card all over the country.

Kid Alberts received the decision over George Ser last night in their twelve round go at Gloucester, the New Jersey boy doing most of the aggressive work throughout the contest. The verdict seems to have been a popular one.

Eddie Mack, Joe Egan's manager, will be in Lowell tonight for the purpose of choosing a referee for the 4th of July contest. Jim Crilly, Steve Kennedy's guardian, will also hit town but neither man will have anything to do with the other. Both boxers entertain the same fond regard for each other that exists between their managers. Each boxer would rather meet the other with a black jack in an alley instead of with gloves in a ring.

The Athletics looked different to Ray Collins yesterday than they did last year. The big southpaw was a hoodoo for Connie Mack's team last season but they certainly made him look like a minor leaguer in yesterday's slugfest match.

Hoppy Jennings is very confident that the Athletics will come through the season with an easy cleanup of the American league and rises to remark that Connie Mack's warriors will be so far ahead in the race that they can walk home with the bacon. If the wily Connie meets with a few accidents to his players there may be a big difference from the percentage of the Athletics now and a month hence.

Adams may be a good pitcher and then again he may not be. However, that is he has shown nothing to boast of so far and the same applies to the big majority of Lowell's pitchers. Manager Gray is trying to hook up some real ones but is having a tough job as good pitchers are a scarce article this season.

LAWRENCE WINS RUBBER GAME

Lowell High School Team Beaten,
7 to 1—Higgins Pitched Good
Ball for Lawrence

Lowell High and Lawrence High played off the third and rubber game of their series yesterday afternoon at Lawrence and the down river school boys were returned an easy winner by the score of 7 to 1. Lawrence's run was due principally to the pitching of Higgins who allowed Lowell High but five hits. Higgins was very wild at stages, handing out eight free passes, but managed to tighten in time to stave off Lowell runs.

Lynch of the Lawrence team played a great all around game. He fielded his position perfectly, hit safely twice and stole four bases. Gill, Lowell High's captain, cracked out two singles for the local team. Sturtevant started the game for Lowell but weakened in the sixth and was replaced by Wilson. Wilson pitched good ball during the remainder of the contest and held Lawrence scoreless.

Lowell played a much poorer game in the field than did their rivals. Lawrence batters reaching first base by the error route. Both of these men scored also. Lawrence hit safely only eight times but the Lowell misplays helped them out. Carter, Cawley and Bailey all contributed fielding features for the locals. The score:

up by real suspenders, according to Mrs. Christiana Hemmick, a leader in Washington society. She says women of fashion will walk the streets of the capital with a few weeks wearing "modified trousers." Mrs. Hemmick is the instigator of the scheme.

"Of course, people will be shocked," said Mrs. Hemmick yesterday. "They were shocked when women began riding astride and wearing socks, but they got over these things and they will get used to the trousers."

Besides, trousers are the only sensible thing for women to wear and this will soon impress itself upon chronic kickers who may object. Trousers are much more practical than skirts, and just as becoming and stylish. Mrs. Hemmick says she has made a canvass among her friends and finds many women that think as she does in regard to trousers. She balks at appearing in them alone, but intimates that she is only awaiting the filling of orders left by her and her friends with their costumes. The trousers will be wide and loose and of any color or material, but preferably of broadcloth, satin or silk.

MOTOR EXCLUSION AT REVERE
Metropolitan Park Board Expected to Act on It Thursday—Autolists Ask Relief From Conditions

BOSTON, June 24.—The Metropolitan park commission, it is expected, will take up at its meeting Thursday morning at 10.30 o'clock, the petition circulated among motorists yesterday by Francis Hartwell, Jr., of the National Automobile association, in an effort to secure relief from the conditions at Revere by which motor cars are barred from the beach boulevard and from the nearby town way, Ocean avenue.

In the petition the commissioners are asked to change this rule. It is claimed that the route motor cars are compelled to take through Revere street makes them as dangerous as if they were allowed to go through the well-policed boulevard.

A large attendance of motorists is expected at the hearing.

Tyrus Cobb is again the Cobb of old. He is batting like a demon, he runs bases to suit himself and without regard to the feelings of the opposing players, and he continues to make marvelous catches of flies. A great deal of the value of Cobb to the Tigers lies in the fact that he throws into the hearts of his opponents once he gets on bases. The knowledge that he will not stay put, that he will attempt a steal at the first chance, often rattles the other players, and when they throw the ball they throw it wild. Three such wild throws were made in rapid succession in a recent game in New York after Cobb had gone from first to third on a single, and as a result of the wild throwing three Detroit players scored. The whole trouble was started by Cobb. Just now he and Jackson, the hard hitting Cleveland outfielder, are in a desperate struggle for the batting leadership of the American league. One day one is ahead; the next day the tables turn. Only a few points separate them, and the contest is likely to be pretty all season.

Interesting developments of a political nature likely to attract wide attention were expected when the open break came between Governor William Sulzer of New York state and Charles F. The Lowell team won a great up-hill contest from Brockton yesterday by the score of 6 to 5. Brockton scoring four of her runs in the first two innings, while Adams was on the mound for Lowell. Reiger, who replaced Adams before the close of the second inning, pitched good ball, allowing Brockton but five hits during the remainder of the game. Shears was hit hard by the Lowell batters in the fifth and eighth innings when six runs crossed the plate as the result of consecutive bingles.

Halstein, Clemens, Daly and Reiger did the heavy stick work for Lowell and their clubs drove in the needed runs at the opportune moment. Lowell again played a loose game in the field. Brockton having three men reach first base on errors. Brockton's only misplay was Maloney's muff of Dee's fly, which probably won the game for the locals as three runs came in before the third out was made in the inning. McGaffey also misjudged Halstein's hit into right field and the wallop went for a three-bagger. The score:

BOSTON, June 24.—Governor Foss, according to the reports made at the mass meeting of the strikers of the Sturtevant-McCormick Works, Becker 13 Milling Machine company at Hyde Park yesterday, is making personal visits to the homes of the strikers.

Promises of higher wages and better conditions have been made by the governor to the strikers. It is said, but no one took advantage of his offer.

The mass meeting was held in French's Opera House, and every foot of standing room was occupied. The strikers were addressed by the international and local officers, after which a large number of the strikers told of the visits that they had received from Gov. Foss and his foremen.

Stories to the effect that dissatisfaction was spreading among the strikers and that a majority of them would return to work yesterday, caused a feeling of more than 500 men and women to turn out early in the morning. No strikers returned to the shops.

A large number of the strikers have obtained work in other places and are paying a percentage of their wages to aid those out of work.

HERBERT WEBSTER

Lowell Performer, Who is Appearing at Merrimack Square Theatre This Week

Despite the heat the attendance at the Merrimack Square theatre increases daily, for this place is recognized as the coolest spot in the city, the house being equipped with a very good system of ventilation and fans that afford comfort for the many patrons. The bill this week is one of the best seen and heard for a long time and is headed by a local boy, Herb Webster, a singer of wide reputation, who uses his excellent baritone voice to advantage. The young man is heard in many extra good selections which win considerable applause. He is a favorite in this city, and his work this week is exceptionally good, his voice having greatly improved lately.

If you love music, and good music, call and listen to the Lambert brothers, who entertain their audiences for fully twenty minutes with rich music, their instruments being a banjo, violin and piano. They are both clever and they close their act with a novelty number.

Carter and Evans, programmed as "These clever boys" are alone worth the price of admission. They open with a bit of comedy singing and stories, and close in a dramatic skit that is fairly well done. They are good singers and dancers of exceptional merit and their act is at 11.

The illustrated songs are well sung by Lillian Sherry, who produces the latest novelties in this line. The feature picture for the first three days in the photo-play is "A Child of War," a dramatic offering that tells story of the Civil War. There are many others well worth seeing.

The Kasino

In the good old summer time, when you and yours desire good, wholesome entertainment, don't forget the Kasino on the hill, where exhilarating atmospheric currents are always in circulation. The Kasino orchestra always has an attractive musical program, both for the concert preceding dancing and for dancing. The concerts are free. Every night and on Saturday afternoon, the Kasino is at your disposal.

lar testimony. The coroner said he had hoped to make the inquiry as broad as possible, in order to determine just who was responsible for the accident, but as the road had "put the airbrakes on," he would have to adjourn until Friday afternoon.

REPORTERS WERE EXCITED

When Pres. Wilson Kept Manuscript

WASHINGTON, June 24.—President Wilson is not usually absent-minded but he laughed heartily today when told how an unpremeditated act of his yesterday threw the house reporters into a state of frenzy. The president read his speech to the joint session of congress from a typewritten manuscript and the official reporters therefore did not take the usual notes, depending on Mr. Wilson to turn his brief over to them for reproduction in the congressional record.

"There is the president's manuscript," demanded Fred Ireland, one of the veterans, as he searched the desk from which the president had spoken.

He called a messenger.

"Run up to the press gallery and see if some of the correspondents haven't captured it."

Nothing was forthcoming, however. The correspondents had not seen the original and no copies had been received at the capitol. Eventually Mr. Ireland made a hurried trip to the White House where, to his relief, the manuscript was turned over to him.

The president had absent-mindedly fished and tucked it in his coat pocket on concluding his reading.

5,000 TENTS IN PLACE

To Accommodate Vets at Gettysburg

GETTYSBURG, June 24.—There will be ample accommodations and plenty of money for all veterans who come to Gettysburg for the battle anniversary celebration next week, even though the number exceed by ten thousand the original estimate, was the announcement made by officers of the regular army at Camp headquarters yesterday.

For the sheltering of the veterans 5,000 tents already are in place, each tent capable of accommodating eleven men, though eight will be the rule. The camp will be fully completed two days ahead of schedule time, according to Major Normoyle in command and provisions will be distributed to the hitherto not later than next Saturday.

Almost every day brings news of larger allotments of veterans from the various states. The latest request for more space comes from Virginia, which reports that instead of 1500 it will send at least 2500.

JUDGMENT FOR $150,000

One of the Largest Ever Recorded in Supreme Court Entered Against Estate of J. B. Brown

NEW YORK, June 24.—One of the largest judgments ever recorded in the supreme court here was filed yesterday in favor of Stewart Brown against the estate of John B. Brown, formerly of Ipswich, Mass. The judgment is for $152,575 with interest amounting to $334,752.

The suit which was brought against Joseph Fairhall of Danville, Ill., executor of Mr. Brown's estate, was for breach of contract involving the sale of stocks and bonds to the decedent and when Justice Giegerich was satisfied that the defendant had been properly served in the action and had put in no defense, he directed a judgment by default.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL GRADUATION

Exercises at the High School Hall Last Evening—Addresses by Prominent Speakers

In High school hall last evening 24 bright young women received diplomas after having completed a two-year course in the household arts department of the Lowell Industrial school. One other, Miss Mary T. Dowling, having completed the course in cooking and dressmaking, was given a special certificate. The diplomas were presented by Mayor O'Donnell. Because of the fact that this was the first graduation of young women from the Industrial school, the occasion was of especial interest, and the program was carried out with an unusual enthusiasm.

The officers of the class are as follows: President, Laurie Lillian Byrne; vice president, Amy Louise Corkum; secretary, Helen Bernadette Ready; treasurer, Helen Bernadette Ready; representatives, Division A, Mae Frances Callery; Division B, Mary Lillian Barrett.

Before the exercises proper a fine musical selection was given by the Borler orchestra, which also played at intervals throughout the evening. Another musical item which gave pleasure to the large audience was a song by Miss Mae Frances Callery.

An original essay was read by Miss Louise Corkum. The title was: "What the school has done for me," and it set forth the advantages to be derived from a course of instruction in the household arts department as no speech from one not familiar with the work of the school could do. The young woman explained the purpose of the school, the scope of the work, and the broad field of opportunity it offers. Miss Helen Bernadette Ready gave a reading. Commencement, in a manner not excelled in girls' colleges with a more ambitious name. It showed careful preparation and was particularly pleasing in its graceful delivery.

The Industrial school, said Supt. Hugh J. Molloy, is a place of specialization and the unskilled workman has but little chance to rise above the lowly station of the "hewer of wood and drawer of water." The world cries for efficiency in all things, and the great idea of industrial education is to make the children of the country efficient before they enter upon the mighty battle of life; to send them forth from the school room well equipped in some particular line of endeavor in which they have shown themselves to be particularly adapted. In days gone by, proud parents would select the profession or line of business which they desired their children to follow, without studying the natural aptness or instinct of the children themselves. As a result, failure has followed failure. The boy or girl will do his or her best only when following his or her own bent. No person can select the life of another, and no person can observe the talent of our children and then assist in its development, and that development is being brought about successfully through the Industrial school system.

The Industrial school points out the fact that there is a field in life for girls beyond teaching and office work, including the great but heretofore overlooked domain of domestic science, where millinery, dressmaking and cooking as features. When I refer to cooking, my mind joyfully reverts to last Tuesday, when it was my pleasure to be the guest of this school at a most delightful luncheon prepared by the first pupils themselves. From time almost immemorial "mother" cooking has occupied the highest pinnacle in the world of culinary art. It has stood incomparable and unrivaled, while the most eloquent encomium that could be bestowed upon a creation of the cook-room has been to say that it was "like mother used to make." For centuries "mother" has held undisputed sway as the world's greatest cook, but today she finds herself confronted by a formidable rival, and eventually she has come into a well-earned reward. With the establishment of the Girls' Industrial school, "mother" has been replaced by her own daughter, and last the dear old soul can take luxurious ease while her daughter prepares the family repast in a manner that will charm the most fastidious appetite.

While the Industrial school is still in the experimental stage and in the hands of the young ladies came forward, there were many audible remarks of admiration for their simple and beautiful white graduation gowns, which were made by the pupils themselves under the supervision of Miss O'Dea and Mrs. Burns. Many of the girls carried bouquets of flowers and they made a charming picture.

The mayor paid a graceful compliment to the ability of the girls to prepare an excellent dinner, and his remarks had the sincerity that came from personal experience. His address, in full, was as follows:

My Dear Graduates, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Assembled this evening to participate in an event that marks an epoch in the educational annals of the city of Lowell: the first graduation of the girls' Industrial school, an institution that represents the latest and most advanced ideas along educational lines.

The establishment of the free public Industrial school promises to revolutionize the present system of education, and in years to come you graduates of today will look back with pride to the auspicious occasion when you went forth, the first of Lowell's daughters to receive the benefit of this new curriculum. The Industrial school has come to stay for it fills a long felt want and solves a problem that has occupied the attention of the brightest minds of the country for the past several years.

In New York, in one year alone, 20,000 children took out working papers. In this city, from January 1 of this year to June 1, 584 children between the ages of 14 and 16 took out working papers. In other words, in Lowell within the past six months, 584 children have left school before the allotted time. The popular impression is that these children abandoned their studies because they were forced by necessity to earn their living at a tender age, but such is not the case with all of them. A substantial proportion have left school because they were dissatisfied with the education they were getting and were anxious to get "jobs" and earning money. Their parents have permitted them to leave school because they could note no progress on the part of the children.

Along with this repeated defection in the ranks of the school children has arisen another source of worry to the school authorities, the backward or delinquent pupil, who cannot readily learn from books. In the short time that the Industrial school has been in existence it has practically solved the problem of the disinterested and backward pupils and has opened a broad field to all children, studious or otherwise.

This is an age of specialization and the unskilled workman has but little chance to rise above the lowly station of the "hewer of wood and drawer of water." The world cries for efficiency in all things, and the great idea of industrial education is to make the children of the country efficient before they enter upon the mighty battle of life; to send them forth from the school room well equipped in some particular line of endeavor in which they have shown themselves to be particularly adapted. In days gone by, proud parents would select the profession or line of business which they desired their children to follow, without studying the natural aptness or instinct of the children themselves. course of development its results in the short time of its existence augur well for its future. It offers a suggestion to all parents that is well worth their deep consideration, and that is that they study their own children and ascertain in what direction their talents and tastes incline. Then encourage them to develop their natural inclinations and with the encouragement of this new system of education there will be opportunity for every child, to be educated according to his or her natural aptitude.

As mayor of Lowell I have the honor to present the diplomas to the first class of graduates of the girls' Industrial school, and I bring to them the heartiest congratulations and best wishes of the city of Lowell, their home city; the city that has provided generously for their education and which asks in return, only that they make good use of that education and achieve success.

WELCOME TO POINCARE

French President Guest of King George

LONDON, June 24.—The friendly feeling between Great Britain and France was manifested today on the arrival in London of President Raymond Poincare, who is to be the guest of King George and the nation until June 27. All the newspapers in editorial articles heartily welcomed the chief executive of the republic across the channel and it is expected that his sojourn in London will impart additional solidity and warmth to the existing relations.

After passing in review a notable gathering of the most modern British war vessels, President Poincare landed at the dockyard this morning, where he was met on behalf of King George by the young Prince of Wales, who on this occasion his first important representative function displayed great composure.

The president and Prince of Wales, after receiving an address of welcome

FIERCE RACE WAR AT LIBERTY SQUARE

Mohammedan and Christian in
Clash—Knives and Clubs Used
—Men Held in $2000

The most serious trouble which has taken place in this city for many years threatened to break out last night when the Christian and Mohammedan factions of the foreign element located here clashed. One man was severely if not fatally stabbed and several others are suffering today from the result of the free use of knives and clubs by the participants. A riot was only prevented by the speed with which Superintendent Welch rushed all the police who were not out on duty to the scene.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR HOLD FIELD DAY

In Observance of St. John's Day
—Commanderies From Maine
at Rockingham Park

Today, St. John's day, is being observed in a fitting manner by the members of the Pilgrim Commandery, Knights Templar, and a number of out-of-town knights, who cordially accepted the invitation of the Lowell body to take part in the celebration, which consisted of a street parade, dinner, and an outing at Rockingham park, Salem, N. H., where a varied entertainment was carried out, and sports and athletics of all descriptions held.

The affair was a grand success from beginning to the end and the Lowell knights are to be complimented on the way the general program was carried out. The parade was one of the prettiest of its kind ever held in this city, and it is said that seldom has such fine music been heard in the streets of the Spindle City as that produced by the famous bands which were in attendance.

Two years ago while Eminent Sir Knight Horace S. Bacon was commander of the Pilgrim Commandery of this city, the members of this popular organization on St. John's day journeyed to Biddeford, Me., where they were royally entertained by Bradford Commandery. Last year on the same day they made the trip to Lewiston, Me., where they were the guests of Dunlap Commandery. This year Pilgrim Commandery made arrangements to entertain their former hosts and invitations were sent to both commanderies, with the result that the same were cheerfully accepted.

SCHOONER WENT DOWN FIRE IN ASH BARREL

Vessels In Collision in Boston Harbor
Blaze Spread to Shed in Lakeview Ave.

BOSTON, June 24.—The fishing schooner Priscilla sank in Boston harbor today a few moments after she had been in collision with the harbor steamer Machigonne. The 15 men of the schooner's crew were saved. Both vessels were bound out, the Priscilla for a fishing trip and the Machigonne on her regular run to Nahant. When off the Commonwealth docks the steamer struck the after part of the Priscilla, ripping off the schooner's stern. The Priscilla's bow rose in the air for a moment and then the schooner plunged sternfirst to the bottom. Harbor lugs and a launch from the revenue cutter Gresham picked up the Priscilla's crew, most of whom had been thrown into the water.

THREATENED TO MURDER WOMAN

Sensational Charge Made at London
Against Daughter of Arthur Orton,
Claimant of Tichborne Estates

LONDON, June 24.—A sensational charge was made today at Bow street police court against a daughter of Arthur Orton, the notorious claimant to the estates of the Tichborne family, about whose identity the world was divided into two camps for many years. The woman was accused of threatening to murder Miss Greville, who is to marry the young baronet, Sir Joseph Doughty-Tichborne at Brompton Oratory tomorrow.

The threat was contained in a letter to the Earl of Granard, who in 1909 married Beatrice Mills, daughter of Orden Mills of New York.

The accused, who called herself Theresa Doughty-Tichborne, protested in court that she intended no harm to the bride and only wanted to bring her case to the attention of the public. "The letter to the Earl of Granard referred to the approaching marriage of my cousin Joseph Tichborne," it said. "I asked you to use your influence to make them give me some of the money they have stolen from us. You do nothing. It is nothing to you that I starve as long as you and your wife can give parties and flaunt about with people who, if they knew the truth, would be ashamed to know you."

Shall Shoot That Girl
"I am making you an accessory before the fact by telling you that I shall shoot that girl rather than Joseph shall marry her and she live on my money. As there is God in heaven I am going to do it."

The woman was remanded. Arthur Orton in 1879 claimed to be Roger Tichborne and demanded the title and estates of the twelfth baronet. He came from Australia and the family believing he had been lost at sea, refused to acknowledge him.

They knew the truth, would be ashamed to know you."

ALDERMAN CHARGED WITH TAKING BRIBE

Wm. Blaisdell, of Beverly, Arrested
on Complaint of Junk Dealer
—Held in $1000

BEVERLY, June 24.—William Blaisdell, an alderman, was arrested at Beverly city hall today on the charge of accepting a bribe. Blaisdell, who knew that application for a warrant was to be made during the forenoon at the Salem district court waited at the hall for Chief Woodberry of the Beverly police to serve it upon him.

He was held in $1000 for a hearing Friday.

Judge Sears of the Salem court issued the warrant after hearing the testimony of Robert Arth, a junk dealer of Beverly, who said that Blaisdell agreed on receipt of $25 to get three other aldermen to vote with him in favor of granting a junkdealer's license to Arth. Blaisdell denies the charge.

ANOTHER BATCH OF SMALLPOX

Seven New Cases Reported This Morning—Four More in French-American Orphanage

Seven new cases of smallpox, four at the French-American orphanage in Pawtucket street, were reported at the office of the board of health this morning. This makes 23 cases in all. Four cases were reported at the orphanage yesterday and besides the four reported direct from there this morning there was another case supposed to have originated there. It is the case of Baby McDonald, at least that is the way the name appeared on the books at public health headquarters. Baby McDonald was removed a few days ago from the orphanage to 23 Decatur street and it was in Decatur street that her condition was discovered and she was returned, immediately, to the orphanage.

The board of health did not collect very much data in connection with the cases reported this morning. Besides the orphanage cases, there was one at 88 Carolyn street, Edward Blanchard, whose wife was one of the first smallpox victims to be removed to the hospital at the beginning of the present epidemic.

The seventh case reported today, and it was discovered last night, was that of Mrs. Gauthier of 187 Perkins street. The board did not have any story in connection with her case. The names and ages of the four children at the orphanage whose cases were reported today, are: Annie Canchon, 8; Rosanna Pillean, 7; Cecile Guilmette, 7; Annette Therin, 5. All of the children will be isolated in a building on the grounds of the orphanage but apart from the main buildings.

GIRL FOUND SUSPENDED FROM HOOK

Charges That Father Fastened a Chain Around Her Neck and Then Beat Her With Whip

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 24.—Charges that he fastened a chain around the neck of his 15-year-old daughter, suspended her from a meat hook in his butcher shop and then beat her with the butt end of a whip until the blood flowed from her wounds, were made against J. J. Johnson in the recorder's court today. Policeman Moore, who arrested Johnson, stated he was called by neighbors who heard the girl's screams and that when he reached the meat market he found the girl suspended from a meat hook by a chain wrapped twice around her neck and locked.

The girl's arms and neck, the officer testified, showed evidences of severe beating, and she was exhausted when released. Johnson said he whipped his daughter because he could not control her.

His case was continued. One of the specific charges against him is assault with intent to murder.

The coldest day last winter in this country was 31 degrees below zero, the said weather lasting three days. The ordinary temperature in November, December, January and February was 30 to 35 degrees below zero, while in September, October, March and April the thermometer registered from 13 to 25 below. In June and July the average temperature is from 5 below to 10 above. It is here that nature comes to thrash out her spite and cast her grievances to the winds, for such winds and snow blizzards are unimaginable in the temperate zones. Blizzards in which it is impossible for man or beast to navigate. Humanity must stay indoors and the reindeer, and bear must keep in shelter. The snow, which is light and blows about so that one cannot see two feet in any direction. Many have been lost on the island, who were too venturesome in these storms. Most of this weather is in the long dark night which, for 24 hours is like Lowell's midnight.

During one of these storms lasting three days, from Jan. 29, our power house was destroyed by fire, a most serious catastrophe, leaving us without power or light. In 11 days we were again running, the repairs being temporary, the permanent repairs having been made later without even stopping the plant, which runs 24 hours per day.

The sun comes above the horizon for the last time on October 22, but owing to the mountainous surroundings in the vicinity of the camp we do not see it after Oct. 5. Daylight at the rate of 25 minutes per day disappears until Dec. 12, when it is total darkness. Daylight comes back the same way it went and on Feb. 19 the sun again shines.

NO ACTION ON BATH QUESTION

Ald. Cummings' Order Failed to Pass at Meeting—$35,000 Loan For Greenhalge School

At a meeting of the municipal council held this forenoon a loan order of $35,000 for additional rooms at the Greenhalge schools was adopted. The council discussed Alderman Barrett's proposition for shower baths and a swimming pool in the Central fire station. Alderman Cummings, who has charge of public buildings, wouldn't stand for a swimming pool, but presented an order providing for shower baths. The order presented by Mr. Cummings was drawn by the city solicitor and did not include an estimate. Alderman Barrett said he would move the adoption of Alderman Cummings' order if Mr. Cummings would have it include an estimate of $15,000. Mr. Cummings said he had talked with the best authorities in the country and he was satisfied that the baths could not be installed for that amount. He refused to make any estimate. The mayor suggested that Alderman Cummings present to the council, at his convenience, an estimate of the cost of installing shower baths and lavatories at the Central fire station, and Mr. Cummings said he would present the estimates at the next meeting.

According to an eye witness, Mr. Nelson was in his machine which was being driven along Nesmith street. Chadwick in his auto came out of his driveway and before either could turn out of the way, the car of Mr. Chadwick struck that of Mr. Nelson broadside. The prompt action of the drivers prevented a more serious accident. The damage to the autos was not great.

If there is any one place where it would seem that the horse has had his day it is in the fire department. So far as Lowell is concerned, it is but a question of a very few years when the fire department will be buying gasoline instead of hay and grain. The automobile fire apparatus in operation in this city at the present time is giving good satisfaction and when the expense of these machines has been worked down to the minimum it is generally conceded that the expense of the machinery, as a whole, will be much less than the expense of the horses as a whole.

Commissioner Barrett, who has charge of the fire department, would like to add a few more machines to the flying squadron and he may add one more this year, yet it is doubtful if any more machines will be added until next year. The motorization of the fire department was begun in 1909, with the purchase of the present protective apparatus, but it amounted to very little until last year.

Commissioner Barrett says there need be no more fire houses constructed here so long as the corporate limits remain as they now are, the life of a piece of motor apparatus is 10 years and Mr. Barrett points out that it is a fallacy to purchase automobiles on borrowed money.

Mr. Barrett, of course, has gone on record as being very much in favor of automobile fire apparatus. He argues that the purchase of automobile apparatus will very positively cut down further expenditures along the line of building. For several years past residents of the Highlands and the far Highlands have been the city government to appropriate enough money," said Mr. Barrett, "to build a house in these sections. City governments have not done it, probably because they haven't had the money, but the time was surely coming when,

if the motor propelled apparatus had not been bought, the houses would be erected.

"No brick fire house can be constructed for less than $25,000, and a better figure would be $30,000. According to the number of men to be attached to a company it would cost $11,000 to $14,000 additional. The equipment, the purchase of horses, the cost of repairing worn out implements, etc., would still further swell the amount. In 10 years' time one house would cost from $150,000 to $175,000, making a total expenditure in 10 years of $600,000 for the establishment and maintenance of these two fire companies.

"It is well that we have decided to purchase pieces of automobile fire apparatus. If we hadn't the fire underwriters would have urged improvements so strongly that eventually the fire houses in the Highlands and the far Highlands would have become necessities."

FUNERALS

ROWAN—The funeral of James Rowan took place this morning at 8:50 o'clock from his late home, 15 Bassett street, at St. Peter's church. A high mass of requiem was celebrated by the Rev. ## DOCTORS DID NOT HELP HER

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Own Statement.

Detroit, Mich.—"I am glad to discover a remedy that relieves me from my suffering and pains. For two years I suffered bearing down pains and got all run down. I was under a nervous strain and could not sleep at night. I went to doctors here in the city but they did not do me any good."

"Seeing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised, I tried it. My health improved wonderfully and I am now quite well again. No woman suffering from female ills will regret it if she takes this medicine."

—Mrs. JAMES G. LECLEAR, 326 Hunt St., Detroit, Mich.

Another Case.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is all you claim it to be. About two or three days before my periods I would get bad backaches, then pains in right and left sides, and my head would ache. I called the doctor and he said I had organic inflammation. I went to him for a while but did not get well so I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking two bottles I was relieved and finally my troubles left me. I married and have two little girls. I have had no return of the old troubles."

Summer Board in Colorado Very Moderate Charges

"I'd like to go to Colorado," said a man the other day, "but it costs so much to live there that I'm afraid I—" "Forget it," said his friend, who had spent a month last summer in the wonder State. "I had the same idea myself last year until I got that folder the Burlington gets up telling the hotel rates. And I was mighty surprised to find that, besides the hotels, there are hundreds of good, clean, wholesome places, where the rates are as low as $5.00 a week, and the fare is mighty good."

That folder is published by the Burlington railroad to show folks how they can enjoy a vacation in Colorado at a very reasonable expense. And it'll like to mail you a copy of it—free. It tells all about the country, gives a complete list of hotels and boarding houses, addresses, rates, conveniences, elevation and nearby attractions.

Let me send these, and if you wish I can tell you all about the trains and cost of railway tickets to the most wonderfully charming country in America.

TRAIN PLUNGED THROUGH BRIDGE

Engine and 7 Cars Went Into the Reservoir—The Engineer Lost Control—Crew Jumped

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 24.—An engine and seven cars of the Annapolis Short Line railroad plunged through the drawbridge of the long railroad trestle which spans the Severn reservoir near here, today. Only the caboose remained on the track. All of the crew, consisting of five men, jumped and none was injured. The engineer lost control of his train on the long down grade and the draw was partially open, having just been swung to allow a vessel to pass.

light to change those rates but are urging their colleagues to abandon free sugar for further 50 per cent reduction in 1916. If the amendment is voted down, the anti-free sugar senators will have other alternatives to propose.

The local police baseball team received the first setback which they have experienced this season at the hands of the Metropolitan Park police at Spaulding park this morning.

Defeated by the score of 13 to 3, Slimy March of New England league fame, was in the visitors' lineup and pitched the latter part of the game.

Lowell could do nothing with his fast straight ball up to the last, when they added three runs to those already gleaned from March's predecessors.

Frank Maloney was on the mound for Lowell and, contrary to the appearance of the score sheet, twirled good ball throughout the game. His support was the worst that has been presented by the Lowell cops this year, although Drewett, Kenney and Kelley fielded their positions well.

Lowell outdid their opponents and but for the presence of so many errors would have won the game. Ragged fielding with men on bases let in six of the visitors' runs.

NEW DUTY ON SUGAR

Caucus Agreed to Support Amendment

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Anti-free sugar democrats gathered in senate caucus today and agreed to support an amendment by Senator Shafroth to eliminate the provision for free sugar in 1916 and substitute a duty of approximately one-half cent a pound after that time on refined sugar.

The Shafroth amendment accepts the duties proposed in the Underwood bill upon sugar for the next three years including a rate on refined sugar until 1916 of approximately one cent a pound. Louisiana senators and those from beet sugar states are making no

H. at 1:30 o'clock, where the outing was held at Rockingham park.

There a varied program of sports was carried out, rich prizes being awarded the winners of the various events, and a most enjoyable afternoon

LYNN KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

Guests at the Vesper Country Club in Observing St. John's Day—Fine Program of Sports

The Vesper Country club on Tyngs Island is today the scene of a very pretty gathering, for a large number of members of Olcott Commandery, Knights Templars of Lynn, have gathered there to celebrate St. John's day. The event will be a memorable one for those who are taking part, for a fine program has been arranged for the occasion.

The members of Olcott commandery, Eminent Sir Knight J. P. Cressup, commander, made the trip from Lynn in automobiles, there being about 35 machines of all descriptions. They came through Lowell between 10 and 11 o'clock and paid a short visit to their brethren of this city, after which they repaired to the club.

In the forenoon a lively baseball game was enjoyed between the "Has-beens" and the "Ostobers," and the slugging was played very real hot. This was followed by a short list of sports, after which dinner was served. At the conclusion of the repast speeches were in order and several addresses were heard. The afternoon was devoted to sports, tennis and golf and 5 o'clock luncheon was served.

The homeward trip was started at 6 o'clock, and all were pleased with the way the day was spent. There were 150 knights in the party, and all highly praised the well appointed Vesper Country club.

M'REYNOLDS' ACTION CONDEMNED

The Federal Grand Jury Prepares Resolutions—Atty. McNabb Intimates Bribery

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—Further correspondence that passed between the offices of the attorney general in Washington and the United States attorney for the northern district of California was made public last night at District Attorney John McNabb's reply to the statement of Assistant Attorney General William Barr in explanation of the postponement of the trials of the Western Fuel Co. accused of conspiracy to defraud the government.

The correspondence related to a third case involving an order from the attorney general's office that six women whose deportation had been decreed by federal judges on the ground that they had entered the United States to follow an immoral calling be admitted to bail. The deportation orders had been signed by Judges Van Fleet and Detroit.

In a letter written on Sept. 27, 1912, Dist. Atty. McNabb informed the assistant attorney general that the court had denied the women freedom on bail and protested against their being admitted to bail. On Oct. 12 Assistant Attorney General Barr wrote that in his judgment the women should have been released on bail.

Women of Lowest Type

District Attorney McNabb's reply to the letter made public last night described the six women as of the lowest type and conveyed the information that a roundabout attempt had been made to procure their freedom by bribery of his office.

"Nevertheless," Mr. McNabb said, "the women were not deported and they are now engaged in their illicit traffic in this city."

The federal grand jury at a meeting yesterday prepared resolutions condemning the action of Attorney General McNabb. These resolutions will be acted upon at its next meeting. This is the grand jury which investigated the charges the second time and returned indictment in both cases.

A former grand jury which first indicted the Western Fuel officials will meet today to consider similar resolutions.

COURT FREES PELKY MOTHER OF 8 IN JAIL

Found Not Guilty of Man-Slaughter Sentenced by Judge for Contempt of Court

CALGARY, Alberta, June 24.—Arthur Pelky, the pugilist, last night was acquitted of a manslaughter charge brought after the death of Luther McCarty, who died in the first round of a bout here on May 24.

It was charged by the government that McCarty died from a blow administered by Pelky. The jury was out only 15 minutes before returning the verdict, although Chief Justice Harvey's charge was said to be unfavorable to the defendant.

In his charge to the jury, Judge Harvey admitted that there was some doubt as to whether the contest was illegal, but he said there was no doubt that death had been caused by a blow and that the jury should consider only whether the defendant was guilty of manslaughter, inasmuch as the blow he struck was not intended to cause fatal results.

A big demonstration followed the announcement of the verdict and as Pelky stepped from the prisoner's cell a general rush was made by friends of the accused to shake his hand and to extend congratulations.

BOSTON, June 24.—Eight small children were deprived of a mother's care yesterday afternoon when Judge Morton of the United States district court sentenced Mrs. Ellen M. English, wife of John A. English, a city employee, living at 235 D street, South Boston, to an indefinite term in the Fall River State Prison for contempt of court. The oldest child is a boy of 13 years, while the youngest is a baby, not quite 2 years old.

Mrs. English refused to obey an order of the court directing her to pay $100 to Mrs. Anna Maloney, the widow of John A. English, who has been trying to get the money for the past two years.

Judge Morton characterized Mrs. English as "an obstinate and ignorant woman."

Mrs. English's reason for not complying with the order of the court is that she spent the money and is unable to pay it back.

DESERTION OF CHILDREN

Is Charged Against Diggs and Gaminetti

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 24.—Providing that the federal authorities postpone the case of Maury Diggs and Drew Gaminetti for the reason that Immigration Commissioner A. Caminetti, father of the defendant, may be present at the trial, two charges, one a misdemeanor and the other a felony still remain for the two men to face in the Sacramento county superior court.

The felony charge against Diggs alleges the desertion of his five-year-old daughter, that against Gaminetti alleges the desertion of Naomi Caminetti and his one-year-old son. Both charges are pending in Justice Clark's court.

District Attorney Wachoski had intended to suspend these charges should the federal charges be completed and it is probable that there will now be no prosecution.

Wachoski was in San Francisco yesterday conferring with United States District Attorney McNabb in relation to the case.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

Meeting of the Fire District Commissioners Held Last Night—Change in the Personnel of the Board

Considerable business was transacted at the annual meeting of the North Chelmsford fire district held in the town hall last evening and there was a large attendance of taxpayers. David F. Small was unanimously chosen as moderator of the meeting on motion of James P. Dunnehan. The various reports were accepted as read.

David Wilson was elected to serve as a special commissioner for three years, replacing George C. Moore. William J. Gurney was re-elected clerk and the President L. P. Bennett, auditor for the year. It was decided to raise $2000 by taxation to defray current expenses of the fire district. The treasurer was authorized to borrow sums necessary for the defraying of current expenses.

The following change will be a meeting of the Fire District of Lowell and district court in Gorton road at the town hall headquarters. There will be examinations for merit badges and class.

The meeting of Court Wainwright will take place in St. John's hall this evening and important business will come to the fore. Returns of tickets for the lawn party held recently.

MRS. GEO. W. TROUT LEADS ILLINOIS SUFFRAGISTS IN VICTORY CELEBRATION

Mrs. George W. Trout, President Illinois Equal Suffrage Association

CHICAGO, June 24.—Mrs. George W. Trout, president of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association, is leading the suffragists of that state in preparing for a big celebration on July 4th because of the recent suffrage victory in this state. The legislature has granted the vote to women as far as the state constitution permitted. Women will be allowed to vote for presidential electors and for municipal officers, but certain other officers are withheld by the constitution. Mrs. Trout is one of the most prominent suffragists in the middle west. The suffragist victory in Illinois is the cause of much congratulation for her, as she has fought long with such others as Miss Jane Addams and Mrs. Catherine W. McCulloch. A parade in the autumn is planned, and, while Chicago and Cook county alone are expected to take part in the July 4th mass meeting, the entire state will be invited to participate in the fall march. The suffrage bill will go into effect July 1st if Attorney General Lucey holds the bill constitutional and the governor signs it.

FIGHT ON JOY RIDERS Highway Safety League Takes Action

BOSTON, June 24.—Aroused by the epidemic of disastrous joy rides, which seems to have hit Boston with renewed vigor, the Highway Safety League of Boston believes it has the solution of the problem, and yesterday sent out appeals throughout the state for a fund of $10,000 with which to combat this growing evil.

The league also proposes to establish branches in every city and town in the state to undertake the work of prosecuting the reckless and irresponsible motorists.

The league has some suggestions to make with regard to legislation. It would take the control of automobilists away from the Highway Commission altogether. It would take the prosecution of offenders away from local police officers and district attorneys. It would take away the jurisdiction of local courts in bearing automobile cases.

In place of ordinary courts and officials, the league would replace them, so far as infractions of speed laws and automobile offenses are concerned, with special courts, which shall have special jurisdiction in these cases, with no other business in hand, and have special officers to prosecute cases of this nature.

But, above all, it would educate public opinion, for the league says, in these days, when so many automobiles are in common use, it is difficult to get a jury to make a conviction, except in aggravated cases, for the reason that some of the jurors either own machines themselves or are accustomed to ride in one and very humanely temper their decisions with the thought they may some time themselves be in the same position as the prisoner at the bar.

TRAINS IN COLLISION

Another Wreck on New Haven Road

CANAAN, Conn., June 24.—One woman was fatally injured, another probably so, and a half dozen other passengers were injured in a collision here yesterday afternoon between a combination milk and passenger train on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad and a switcher on the Central New England railway. The two lines intersect near the Canaan station and the wreck occurred at that point.

The New Haven train was made up of a number of milk cars and a combination passenger and baggage coach. This car was standing at the station with 11 passengers aboard ready to be coupled to the milk train. As the latter, backed down from where it had been loading milk, to the station, it struck the passenger with such force that it knocked it backwards onto the Central New England cross-over. At that moment, the switcher, backing down some freight cars, reached the intersection and the rear freight car struck the passenger, smashing in the end, tossing it from the tracks and overturning it.

Hebrews Protest Against Ridicule Mayor O'Donnell and members of the license commission have received a communication from A. S. Goldman in behalf of local Hebrew residents, claiming that they are ridiculed in the performance of Ranch 101, which comes here on July 3.

FIGHT ON FREE SUGAR Western and Louisiana Senators Speak

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Democratic senators opposed to free sugar yesterday began their final effort to change the schedule before the tariff bill reaches the senate for general debate.

Western and Louisiana senators were primed to make a titanic fight against the provision approved and urged by President Wilson, which provides that sugar shall be free of duty in 1916. Senators Shafroth of Colorado and Walsh of Montana took up the contest when the schedule was reached suddenly late in the afternoon.

M'REYNOLDS TO REPORT

To Tell President Why Case Was Postponed

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Attorney General McReynolds will make a full report to President Wilson today at the president's request on the causes that moved him to direct postponement of the Dugas-Caminetti white slave cases and the trials of two directors of the Western Fuel company, the basis of the resignation of United States Attorney John L. McNeil of San Francisco and his sensational charges against the head of the department of justice.

TRIED TO SHOOT UP COURT

Boy Fired Three Shots at Prosecutor

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Ray M. Stewart, 15, tried to shoot up the criminal court yesterday when Justice Stafford refused to release him on probation after conviction for attempted highway robbery. Before officers could overpower him Stewart whipped out a pistol and put three bullets perilously near Justice Stafford and Assistant United States Attorney Given and Hawken. He was jailed to answer a more serious charge.

ARMY NEEDS HORSES

Greater Shortage Now Than Has Ever Before Existed—One Thousand Steeds Needed

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The army is now short at least 1,000 horses, a greater shortage than has ever before existed. The war department already has expended $100,000 allowed by congress March 1 last, while another appropriation of $115,000 will be available July 1 at present prices not nearly enough horses can be had to meet the need. Fortunately, however, prices are somewhat lower than last year.

LOWELL MAN MENTIONED

O'Sullivan's Name Submitted for Collector

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Massachusetts democrats in the house yesterday conferred with Secretary McAdoo about the Boston collectorship. They submitted to him a list of 10 names. While it might seem the nomination of a collector had been made easier, some of those who took part in the conference expressed doubts on that point. Secretary McAdoo wrote to Representative Peters some days ago, asking that he and his colleagues come in for a talk.

The 10 names submitted to Mr. McAdoo, after the Massachusetts democrats, at his suggestion, and withdrawn, to make up a roster, are: J. Edward Barry, John T. Burnett, Charles S. Hamlin, William E. Hayes, Samuel H. Hudson, John F. McDonald, Joseph A. Maynard, William Taylor, Charles R. Strecker and Humphrey O'Sullivan of Lowell. Each name on this list had the endorsement of a majority of the eight democratic representatives from Massachusetts.

Probably the significance of the affair was as a first step toward some concerted action. Sec. McAdoo and President Wilson would like to see a little more party harmony in the Bay state and are not averse to encouraging the democratic representatives to that end. Yesterday's agreement should make it easier for Secretary McAdoo to select a collector, provided there is a man in this list of 10 whom President Wilson is willing to nominate. Presumably there are at least two or three.

Statements have been made at the treasury department within recent days that Charles S. Hamlin would accept the offer were made to him under proper conditions. Some Boston democrats in congress believe John T. Burnett's chances are fairly good and are naming him as a prospective winner. Others seem to favor Humphrey O'Sullivan of Lowell.

INDUSTRY COUNCIL, R. A.

Observed 36th Anniversary of Order By Ladies' Night—Lecture By John J. Hogan, Esq., on "Quebec"

Nearly three hundred members and friends of the Royal Arcanum assembled in Odd Fellows temple last night to celebrate the 36th anniversary of the organization of this society. Nine thirty-six years ago yesterday, this men met in Boston and started this fraternal society which today is one of the strongest in the United States, containing over 250,000 members.

The affair, which was held under the auspices of the Industry Council, was called a Ladies' night and a large number of wives and daughters of the members were on hand. The feature of the evening was an illustrated talk on the city of Quebec by Supreme Trustee, John J. Hogan. Mr. Hogan kept the attention of the audience for about an hour, dwelling mainly on the city of Quebec and the business session of the last convention. That his talk was appreciated was shown by the applause given him at the conclusion.

During the evening there were solos by John J. Dalton with Miss Ruth Mower as accompanist. Regent Michael J. Sullivan, the presiding officer, spoke briefly, extending his welcome to all present and thanking the members for the interest taken in the anniversary.

After the entertainment the party adjourned to the dining-room where refreshments were served by Mr. Gordon Kirby.

The following local councils were represented at the anniversary last night: Lowell, 8, Highland, 970, John Erickson, Rochambeau and North Belieria.

INTERNATIONAL GOLF

HOY LAKE, England, June 24.—John J. McDermott, open golf champion of the United States, did a fine third round in the international golf championship here today, making it in 77 which equalled the best score of the day. With his cards of 75 in the first round and 80 in the second he had 232 and stood third best.

J. H. Taylor also did the third round in 77 strokes, making with his 73 and 75 in the first and second rounds an aggregate of 225, putting him for the time at least well in the lead.

Edward Ray, the British champion, came second with an aggregate for the three rounds of 223 strokes, having taken 73 in the first round, 74 in the second and 81 in the third.

NAVY INQUIRY STARTS INTO FATAL FALL OF AVIATORS

LIEUT. JOHN H. TOWERS AND START OF FATAL FLIGHT

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 24.—An inquiry into the hydroaeroplane fatality in which Ensign William D. Billingsley was killed and Lieutenant John H. Towers, head of the naval aviation squad, was badly injured was started. Billingsley and Towers started out for an experimental trip to Calverton, Md., on a Wright biplane, with attached pontoon, converting it into a hydroaeroplane. Accompanying it was a Curtiss machine, with Ensign Challenger and Lieutenant Dorch, and following it was a launch. When the aviators were about four miles off Kent Island and 1,600 feet above Chesapeake bay a sudden violent gust of wind struck the hydroaeroplane. Billingsley was thrown forward across the steering gear, which was disabled. The front planes fell, and the machine started like a dead bird for the water below. As it dropped, Billingsley was thrown out headlong and, turning over and over, fell to his death. Lieutenant Towers managed to save himself from a similar fate by clinging to one of the uprights between the planes. The death of Ensign Billingsley makes a total of eight fatalities in the army and navy since experiments began with heavier than air machines in 1908. His is the first fatality in the aviation corps of the navy, while the army has already lost seven officers.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

Last week two women were arrested and fined in Boston because they defied against a city regulation which forbade people trespassing on the grass of the common. The case aroused considerable comment and the mayor immediately came out with a strong statement in which he vigorously condemned the authorities for arresting the women, and amended the regulation so that during the warm summer months women and children may sit on the grass or play to their heart's content without fear of punishment. "Better dead grass on the parks than dead babies in the tenements," he said, in explaining his position in the matter.

There are two sides to this question, as there are to most questions, but this one has the unusual distinction of having the opposing arguments fairly well balanced. Grass on the commons is refreshing to the eye and as such is a benefit even to those who sit on the benches or walk through the common paths. It is far more soothing and inviting, however, to those who may rest or recline on it or to the children to whom a green plot is always an almost irresistible temptation. If this temptation were yielded to the grass would almost entirely disappear in a short time, so that it is a question of choosing eventually between grass to look at or red earth to sit on.

But while one stands musing, inclined to favor the view that people should not be allowed to walk, sit or play on the grass, along comes a third mother of the tenements, weary from toiling in the sunshine with a beloved child in her arms. Two others toddle beside her, their eyes dancing with joy at the prospect of running in the grass or lying in the grateful shade. They conjure up a vision of stuffy, sun-scorched yards where never a blade of grass grows, and where white ribbons on the doors is a more frequent sight than daisies or dandelions. The little group upsets all our theories and we are ready to say with Mayor Fitzgerald, "Better dead grass in the parks than dead babies in the tenements."

Giving the subject a local application, it would be nothing short of a burlesque irony to enforce "off the grass" rules in one of our commons, because it would require a strong exercise of the imagination to find very much grass to keep away from. In the other common the grass is in a fairly good condition but its refreshing coolness is availed of by men who enjoy nature more than work rather than by tired mothers and children. The rule as in operation at Fort Hill park seems sensible and satisfactory. People are not allowed to intrude on the grass in the lower portion of the park where the streets border it, but if the rule applies to the upper portion it is not enforced and it is as well that it is not. The real enjoyment of parks is in sitting or reclining on the grass, and the natural surface of upper Fort Hill will not be materially injured because of the number who rest and relaxation there in their leisure hours.

PROROGUED

The Massachusetts legislature which has just closed its sessions has been publicly criticized to an unusual extent—not because it has committed any offenses with which we are altogether unfamiliar, but because it committed them in a greater degree than usual. While this criticism has been deserved partly, it must be apparent that it applies not to individuals but to the expressed opinion of the majority who were apparently actuated at times by motives other than the desire to consider public questions in their relation to the welfare of the people as a whole.

One of the faults of the last session—and one of the most usual of all sessions—was the leaving over of some of the most important measures of the term until the end, with the natural consequences of haste where there ought to be calm deliberation. This gives rise to the reflection that the legislature is apt to leave delicate matters to the judgment of these higher up. There can be no doubt that the last legislature did to an unusual extent, as was proved over and over by the frequent exercise of the governor's veto. It is significant that towards the end of the session, predictions were freely made that certain measures would pass both houses only to meet the veto and these predictions were afterwards verified. This looks more like a discarded method of playing politics than a following of the real functions of the legislature. Incidentally, if anything could restore the vanished prestige of Governor Foss, it would be that some veto power, which though sometimes mistaken in application, was usually resorted to with a greater amount of wisdom than was shown by either house.

Unreserved criticism, however, is not just to the recent legislature. In legislation affecting railroads and public service corporations, the situation in Massachusetts is not normal. We are reaping the fruits of a long and blind agitation, and there will be a great deal of perplexity in and out of the legislature until the situation is judged without any of the prejudices for and against which have been rendered for some time past in the public mind. In humanitarian laws such as the uniform child labor bill, and in measures for the public health and safety, the legislature acted wisely. The main objection was the too evident display of political strategy in measures which called for dispassionate judgment. But the people cannot well complain, as the question is one in which they all have a hand. When we criticize our legislators we criticize our own judgment. It is a matter for congratulation that though our Lowell representatives were not always with the majority, most of them were on the right side in the more widely discussed matters.

SALISBURY BEACH FIZZLE

It is well that those who fought so steadily against the measure which included Lowell in the Salisbury beach reservation in direct opposition to the expressed protest of the citizens of this city did not give up the fight after the adverse legislative verdict. Many then thought that our inclusion was inevitable and prepared to make the best of a bad matter. But those who persisted in the fight to have an unjust decision set at naught have at least the gratification of knowing that in the opinion of the supreme court the act of the state in selling the land taken by eminent domain was unconstitutional, and if this decision is not set at naught by some technical strategy, we will resign ourselves gratefully to the disappointment of being deprived of a reservation which the state thought we needed, even though we thought we didn't.

Should the objection of the supreme court be met by some strategic move, there is still ground on which we may further base our objection. The law grows less and less technical yearly and decisions are arrived at which are in keeping with the demands of common sense. The object of those who hastily formed the reservation, in including Lowell, is very evident from the fact that Tewksbury and Dracut were jumped and the big taxable plum included. The Lowell legislators who fought against the measure to a man represented the almost unanimous opinion of the city, and the unanimous opinion of a city is a pretty good judge of what the city requires. We certainly do not require or need the Salisbury beach reservation and we will voice our objection in no uncertain terms until we step out of it. The legislature acted without judgment, and it is now being reminded of the fact by the courts.

BRYAN'S APPROVAL

It is a most remarkable thing that those who predicted a speedy disagreement between the president and the secretary of state at the beginning of the present administration have entirely abandoned their line of reasoning, baffled by the absolutely convincing evidence of the perfect conformity that exists between the two eminent statesmen. Those who presaged misunderstanding between them were prompted by their desire rather than by their sincere conviction, and if any doubt exists as to the sameness of the point of view of the two men it ought to be dispelled by the statement of Secretary Bryan that he thoroughly approves of the currency bill which has been framed largely by the president or under his direct authority.

That this approval of the secretary is not prompted by the exigencies of the occasion but is due to his earnest conviction must be evident from the opening passage in which he says:

"I am glad to endorse most earnestly and unreservedly the currency bill which has been proposed by the chairman of the committee on currency, in conjunction with the president and Secretary McAdoo. 'It is a much better bill than I supposed it possible to secure at this time. Conflicting opinions, honestly entertained and strongly adhered to, have been reconciled with a ease hardly to be expected. I have doubted until recently the wisdom of attempting currency legislation at this session, but my doubts were largely due to the fact that I feared the difficulties in the way would prevent an agreement upon a plan.'"

It is commonly asserted that Mr. Bryan met political defeat in the past largely because of his unsound views regarding the currency. Those who hold this view are not likely to be swayed by his approval of the present measure, but his views will influence the thousands who believe that most of his views in years past have been justified in the passing of time. He has not lost an iota of his prestige, and his power in democratic circles is still supreme.

Seen and Heard

The short session may be remembered longest.

It is hard to get to work on time Monday mornings, because it takes so long to read about the Sunday automobile accidents.

If a young man continues to break cigars in his vest pocket after he is engaged, it is simply thoughtlessness.

A good part of what you hear isn't true, and a good deal more isn't particularly interesting.

The man who thinks that he can bluff his way through the world, is pretty sure to find before he gets very far that the world is a good deal keener than he thinks it is.

When a man has a headache in the morning, it isn't always because he did so much brain work the night before.

The average girl has about as much use for shoes with common-sense heels as the average man has for lace on his pocket handkerchief.

A boy is seldom so bashful that he can't eat five cream cakes, one after another, if he gets a chance.

After a girl gets to be thirty-eight the world doesn't seem to her for granted that she has never had any desire to be somebody's darling.

When a girl gives a young man a silver match safe, it is fair for him to assume she has no objections to marrying a man who smokes.

The man who is always willing to bet that you are wrong would win every now and then if you should take him up.

The reason why mantelpiece clocks so often get out of order is because it is strange that attention to it has not been drawn before. A clock makes a noise.

It is because mantelpiece clocks are rarely level. If a clock meant for a mantelpiece is not placed in an exactly horizontal position it is sure to go wrong. When the clock is level because of its slanting position, people regularly move the hands forward or backward, as the case may be, in order to adjust the clock.

Eventually the clock's hands are moved about so much that the mechanism gets out of order, and the clock refuses even to tick.

"Waiting" and "clocks" are constructed differently from the stationary clock, and they will go in any position. That is why they are relied upon more than the ornamental mantelpiece clock.

An old story reappeared in an good as last summer's old collection. Miss Grace Green tells us about dogs: "One would have it that a collie was the most expensive of dogs, while the other stood up for the scene. 'I once owned a setter,' declared the latter, 'which was very intelligent. I had him on the street one day, and he acted so queerly about a certain man, we met that I asked the man his name, and 'Oh, that's an old story!' the man's name broke in sneeringly. 'The man's name was Fidelity,' of course, and because of that the dog came to a set. He, too, came again. 'You're mistaken,' rejoined the other snarlingly. 'The dog didn't come quite to a set, though almost. As a matter of fact, the man's name was Quavly, and the dog hesitated on account of the spelling.'"

THE INCOME TAX

This levying an income tax may fret the heads of some. But most of us, quite unconcerned. Think calmly. "Let it come!" For incomes of four thousand per year and over, beyond the means. And if they seek the number, why. The rest of us don't care.

But if it were an outgo tax. That congress had in mind. The public feeling then would be of quite a different kind. So many live beyond their means. By practice made expert. That levying an outgo tax. By jingo! That would hurt!

CONCENTRATE OR LOSE

Contest Man Suggests Pooling of Votes

The Contest Man at the outset of this article wishes to announce that the constituency of one body of people which is divided into many societies, should come together and unanimously select one of these societies to vote for, and thereby concentrate your voting strength. All such divisions should be united upon one society, and then you would merge into the contest a more potent factor.

The contest has gained a phenomenal impetus since last week, as the vote clearly shows. Hundreds of voters are being daily added to the ranks. This increase of interest was particularly noticeable last week, which is largely due to the fact that the Library Contest was better understood and the great value as represented by those beautiful books was more apparent to everyone.

The pupils of the Lowell High school are beginning to make the votes by and when these young warriors get "on the job" it is high time for any crowd of contestants competing against them to sit up and take notice of the fact that they constitute a purchasing power of serious consequence in view of the hundreds of dollars that will be placed into their hands when sent upon errands for groceries, meats and all sorts of things.

The contest has certainly an agreeable surprise to everyone; the little white slip is being punctiliously dropped into the ballot boxes.

The contest is arousing renewed interest and the interest will increase as the weeks fly. Sept. 1st will be a red letter day in the history of the city. If you want to participate, do not do it by putting these schemes and plans you have in mind off for the morrow, but attend to them today and do it now. ## STREET RAILWAY WORK

Repairs at Bridge and First Streets

Because of the extensive repairs which the Bay State Street Railway company is making on its tracks at the junction of Bridge and First streets and Lakeview avenue, it is quite probable that the patrons of the Bridge street car lines may be obliged to put up with some inconveniences for some few days.

At the point where the tracks turn up First street, the present rails are being torn up in order that the turn may be wider so as to allow two cars to pass on the curve, a feat which is under the present condition not advisable. The space between the two tracks will be widened and the inner track removed so as to be farther away from the curbings. The two close proximity of parallel tracks in a case of this kind is considered dangerous.

The drive where the cars turn down Lakeview avenue will undergo the same process, as on the avenue opposite Front street a temporary cross over is being installed so that the cars may proceed to the square on the inbound track even after the other has been torn up. From First street to the square, the inbound track will be used for both the incoming and the outward bound cars, and here is where the greatest inconvenience will arise for the traffic on the many Bridge street lines will be to some extent delayed. It will be necessary to station flag men at the corners to warn the motorman outward bound of the approach of inward bound cars, so that one may await the other on a turnout.

All of this work which is known as "special" work, is in charge of Timothy Quinn and under his capable and efficient direction will be completed rapidly. When completed it will have made a big improvement in the arrangements at the three corners, where at the present time, no little difficulty is encountered.

Ed Cawley made a very fitting wind-up of his high school athletic career last Saturday afternoon at Spaulding park. His fielding and batting were the features of the game. Ed will leave for Connie Mack's outfit within a very short time.

Joe Gargan has returned from his year's stay at the University of Notre Dame and will be home until college opens next fall. Joe will make them all sit up and take notice when the grid-iron season comes around again.

Did you see where Duggy Smith pitched a very creditable game for Springfield the other day? What do you know about that young southpaw? If Smith makes good with Springfield it will be the joke of the season.

Manager Charley Doolin of the Philadelphia Nationals made a big hit last night at Keith's theatre, Boston, when he rendered a selection which was not on the program. Doolin was in one of the boxes enjoying the performance when one of the fingers stepped up to the footlights and requested that the house of the National league leaders give the audience a song. Doolin was in vaudeville last winter and the request did not go unheeded. The house was in an uproar for several minutes and the manager-actor was obliged to give three encores before the audience was satisfied.

Regardless of the injury to his hand Jimmie Gardiner will box Frank Klaus on Tuesday, July 1st, at the Atlas 3. A. of Boston according to a communication received by the writer from the secretary of the club. This is the first bout in a series of elimination contests which Matchmaker McGann has arranged between the top notchers in the middleweight division. If Jimmie can hold his own with Klaus he will again be a great drawing card all over the country.

LAWRENCE WINS RUBBER GAME

Lowell High School Team Beaten, 7 to 1—Higgins Pitched Good Ball for Lawrence

Lowell High and Lawrence High played off the third and rubber game of their series yesterday afternoon at Lawrence and the down river school boys were returned an easy winner by the score of 7 to 1. Lawrence's win was due principally to the pitching of Higgins who allowed Lowell High but five hits. Higgins was very wild at times, handing out eight free passes, but managed to tighten in time to stave off Lowell runs.

Lynch of the Lawrence team played a great all around game. He fielded his position perfectly, hit safely twice, and stole four bases. Gill, Lowell High's captain cracked out two singles for the local team. Sturtevant started the game for Lowell but weakened in the sixth and was replaced by Wilson. Wilson pitched good ball, during the remainder of the contest and held Lawrence scoreless.

Lowell played a much poorer game in the field than did their rivals, two Lawrence batters reaching first base by the error route. Both of these men scored times. Lawrence hit safely only eight times but the Lowell misplays helped them out. Carter, Cawley and Bailey all contributed fielding features for the locals. The score:

LAWRENCE HIGH

W. Y. Higgins, p 3 1 2 1 2

Burnham, lb 4 1 1 0 1 0

Perry, rf 3 1 0 0 1 0

Duhamel, c 4 0 0 13 2 1

Kid Alberts received the decision over George Alger last night in their twelve round go at Gloucester, the New Jersey boy doing most of the aggressive work throughout the contest. The verdict seems to have been a popular one.

Eddie Mack, Joe Egan's manager, will be in Lowell tonight for the purpose of choosing a referee for the 4th of July contest. Jim Griley, Steve Kennedy's guardian, will also hit town but neither man will have anything to do with the other. Both boxers entertain the same fond regard for each other that exists between their managers. Each boxer would rather meet the other with a black jack in an alley instead of with gloves in a ring.

The Athletics looked different to Ray Collins yesterday than they did last year. The big southpaw was a hoodoo for Connie Mack's team last season but they certainly made him look like a minor leaguer in yesterday's slugging match.

Hughie Jennings is very confident that the Athletics will come through the season with an easy cleanup of the American league and rises to remark that Connie Mack's warriors will be so far ahead in the race that they can walk home with the bacon. If the wily Connie meets with a few accidents to his players there may be a big difference from the percentages of the Athletics now and a month hence.

Adams may be a good pitcher and then again he may not be. However, that is he has shown nothing to boast of so far and the same applies to the big majority of Lowell's pitchers. Manager Gray is trying to hook up some real ones but is having a tough job as good pitchers are a scarce article this season.

LOWELL TEAM RALLIES AND WINS
Defeats Brockton 6 to 5—Reiger
Pitches Good Ball—Maloney
Gets Three Hits

The Lowell team won a great up-hill contest from Brockton yesterday by the score of 6 to 5. Brockton scoring four of her runs in the first two innings, while Adams was on the mound for Lowell. Reiger, who replaced Adams before the close of the second inning, pitched good ball, allowing Brockton but five hits during the remainder of the game. Shears was hit hard by the Lowell batters in the fifth and eighth innings when six runs crossed the plate as the result of consecutive bingles.

Halstein, Clemens, Daly and Reiger did the heavy stick work for Lowell and their clubs drove in the needed runs at the opportune moment. Lowell again played a loose game in the field, Brockton having three men reach first base on errors. Brockton's only misplay was Maloney's muff of Dee's fly, which probably won the game for the locals as three runs came in before the third out was made in the inning. McGaffey also misjudged Halstein's hit into right field and the wallpout went for a three-bagger. The score:

"These Clever boys," are also worth the price of admission. They open with a bit of comedy flinging and stealing, and close in a dramatic skit that is fairly well done. They are good comedians and actors of exceptional merit and their act is A1.

The illustrated songs are well sung by Lillian Shenny, who promises to hit new songs every line. The feature picture for the first three days in the photo-plays is "A Child of War," a dramatic offering that tells a story that most of us have many others who well worth seeing.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—President Wilson is not usually absent-minded but he laughed heartily today when told how an unpremeditated act of his yesterday threw the house reporters into a state of frenzy. The president read his speech to the house and then, coming to a new-written manuscript, and the official reporters therefore did not take the usual notes, depending on Mr. Wilson to turn his brief over to them for reproduction in the congressional record.

"Where is the president's manuscript?" demanded Fred Ireland, one of the veterans, as he searched the desk from which the president had spoken.

He called a messenger.

"Run up to the press gallery and see if some of the correspondents haven't got it."

Nothing was forthcoming, however. The correspondents had not seen the original and no copies had been received at the capital. Eventually Mr. Ireland made a hurried trip to the White House, where to his relief, the manuscript was turned over to him. The president, his absent-minded folded and tucked it in his coat pocket on concluding its reading.

GETTYSBURG, June 24.—There will be ample accommodations and plenty of ration for all veterans who come to Gettysburg for the battle anniversary celebration next week, even though the number exceeds 100,000, it was announced today. To estimate, says the announcement made by officers of the regular army at Camp headquarters yesterday.

For the sheltering of the veterans, 5000 tents already are erected. There will be ample accommodating elevations, though eight will be the rule. The camp will be fully completed two days ahead of schedule time, according to Master Normyle in command, and provisions will be distributed to the kitchen not later than next Saturday.

Almost every day brings news of larger allotments of veterans from all various states. The latest request for more space came from New York, which is expected to send 18,000, which will be at least 2000.

BOSTON, June 24.—Stefan Boraski, who while a farmhand for Mrs. Rebecca Unasky at West Granville, Robbstown, Pa., was charged with the murder of her, was put to death by electricity in the Charlestown state prison at 12.06.03 this morning. Boraski was the 18th man executed by this method in Massachusetts.

Boraski went to the death chamber at 12.05, reciting a Polish hymn, which he continued until he was seated in the chair. The current was applied at 12.06.03, and he was officially pronounced dead at 12.14.15. A current of 1800 volts was used, at 10 to 11 amperes.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 24.—Attorney J. F. Berry of the New York New Haven & Hartford railroad yesterday "put the air brakes on" Coroner Phelps's inquest into the recent Stamford wreck as the latter expressed it when an effort was made to ascertain the exact duties, powers and responsibilities of various high officials of the road.

C. N. Woodward, general superintendent of the road, was on the stand at the time and he declined, upon constitutional grounds, to answer questions as to his duties, pleading that he was already under indictment on a manslaughter charge as the result of the Westport wreck.

"Attorney Berry also 'temporarily objected' to other officials giving sim-

French President Guest of King George

LONDON, June 24.—The friendly feeling between Great Britain and France was manifested today on the arrival in London of President Raymond Polnare, who is to be the guest of King George and the nation until June 26. The newspapers and official authorities heartily welcomed the chief executive of the republic across the channel and it is expected that his colours in London will impart additional confidence and warmth to the existing relations.

After passing in review a notable gathering of the most modern British war vessels, President Polnare landed at the Admiralty Pier, where a reception was met on behalf of King George by the young Prince of Wales, who on this occasion of his first important representative function displayed great composure.

I've learned the secret of Dolores' entrancing beauty—the wondrous charm that has dazzled the courts of Europe and captivated the hearts of the famous dancer also. The famous dancer also, despite the strenuousness of her life, has a complexion as soft as cream. As described as "Indescribable." An intimate friend tells me the secret—regularly uses on her face what drug store is used at night in the manner cream is used and washed off in the morning. It absorbs the impurities from the skin, makes the complexion fair, soft, fresh, girlish complexion. A always in evidence. I'm marred by a single wrinkle, not even the finest line. She wards these off by daily bathing the face in a solution made by dissolving a half-ounce of the product in a half-pint wash basin. As you drug stores keep these ingredients, as well as mercerized wash (one ounce), you will find no need to buy. Our readers will welcome this information.

Mayor O'Donnell

Mayor O'Donnell presented the diplomas. As the young ladies came forward, there were many audible remarks of admiration for their simple and attractive white graduation gowns, which were made by the pupils themselves under the supervision of Miss O'Dea and Mrs. Burns. Many of the girls caught the eye of the fathers and the crowd, and made a charming picture.

The mayor paid a graceful compliment to the ability of the girls to prepare an excellent dinner, and his remarks had the effect of increasing the confidence of the young ladies. His address, in full, was as follows:

My Dear Graduates, Ladies and Gentlemen:

We are assembled this evening to participate in an event that marks an epoch in the educational annals of the city of Lowell: the first graduation of the public industrial schools. An institution that represents the latest and most advanced ideas along educational lines.

The establishment of the free public industrial school promises to revolutionize the educational system of the nation, and in years to come your graduates of today will look back with pride to the auspicious occasion when you went forth, the first of Lowell's daughters to receive the diploma of graduation from the Industrial school has come to stay for it fills a long felt want and solves a problem that has occupied the attention of the brightest minds of the country for
